EXPERTS SEEK GRAFT EVIDENCE IN CITY'S BOOKS

Accountants Are Employed by Grand Jury to Hunt for Suspicious Contracts.

INQUIRY IS SWEEPING

Not Confined to Delegates' Transactions, but Extends to All City Officers.

MORE MEN EXAMINED

Several Witnesses Presumed to Have Knowledge of Law Violations Testify.

It was learned at the Four Courts Wednesday that the grand jury has employed a firm of expert accountants to check up city records that are expected to show the existence of business contracts between the city and members of the Municipal Assembly and other public officials.

The books of three or four private firms, whose officers have been summoned before the grand jury, are also said to be under investigation.

The grand jury, as indicated by Foreman Riddle's statement to the Post-Dispatch Tuesday, is determined to make a sweeping inquiry into any matter that may tend to throw light on municipal graft and corruption.

Circuit Attorney Sager says the inquisitorial probe will be pushed until every bill now held up by the House of Delegates is thoroughly investigated.

Testimony that a bill to obtain an excavation permit which failed of passage after the contractor had refused to pay $25 to Daniel Corbett, page of the House of Delegates, for copying the bill, was heard by the grand jury Tuesday afternoon.

The contractor who gave this evidence was Frederick J. Remmers, president of the Remmers Construction Co., which had the contract for erecting the new Navarre Building at Sixth and Chestnut streets. The bill about which Remmers testified was to give the builders permission to excavate as far as the line of the curbing on the street.

Letter Followed by Visit.

Before going into the grand jury room to give his testimony, Mr. Remmers said that not long after the introduction of his bill he received a communication from Daniel Corbett, page of the House of Delegates, asking for $25 for "copying your bill." Mr. Remmers said that he paid no attention whatever to this communication.

Later, he said, Corbett came to see him in person and asked for the $25. Mr. Remmers said he refused to pay the money. His bill did not pass.

The contractor declared that he did not want "to be held up" and applied to the Board of Public Improvements for permission do the excavating. He obtained permission to dig to a distance of seven feet from the building line, but not to the line of the curb.

Denies Demanding Money.

Young Corbett admitted to a Post-Dispatch reporter that he sent a bill for $25 to Mr. Remmers, but insists there was nothing wrong in the transaction.

"I don't know Mr. Remmers and the statement that I went to his office and demanded pay for my work is untrue," declared Corbett.

"Mr. Leonard, clerk of the House, turned the Remmers bill over to me and I transcribed it. Mr. Leonard told me that I would be paid for the work. I sent Mr. Remmers a bill for $25, but he did not pay it and I did not dun him for the money."

Clerk Leonard said:

"We have a right to charge for copying ordinances. My predecessor secured an opinion to that effect from City Counselor Bates. I don't think we need any more authority than that, do we? Mr. Corbett did nothing improper and I think somebody is making a tempest out of a teapot."

George C. Linde, former Councilman, who was fined $500 on his plea of guilty to the charge that contrary to law he made a $1695 contract with the city for cleaning the House of Delegates, Daniel Naughton, Assistant Clerk of the House and other officials have been cited to appear before the grand jury which will reconvene at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Street Worker Complains.

Among other complaints to be investigated by the grand jury is one preferred by John Westerfeldt of 2203 Branch street, a former employe of the City Street Department.

Westerfeldt says that he was obliged to quit his job because he refused to comply with improper demands made on him by a street superintendent. Other matters connected with the Street Department, it is understood, will also receive the grand jury's attention.

LOVELORN SWAIN SPANKED GIRL WITH LATH—AND IT HAD A NAIL IN IT, TOO

He Protests He Did Not Mean to Hurt Her, but Judge Fines Him $10.

For laying Miss Melvina Steiner, 18 years old, over his knee and spanking her with a lath which had a nail in the end of it, Paul Hendel, 21 years old, was fined $10 by Judge Tracy in the City Hall Police Court Wednesday.

Miss Steiner is weigher and book-keeper for her father, who keeps a coal yard at Brannon avenue and Reber place. She is a handsome girl, with brown hair and big gray eyes. When she testified as to how Hendel spanked her she was apparently greatly embarrassed.

Hendel protested that he had been trying to warm the embers of love in Miss Steiner's bosom by breaking into her father's coal office every morning and making a fire so that she wouldn't find the room chilly when she went to work. For this, he said, he was rebuked and repulsed.

"I didn't mean to hurt her, Judge; honest I didn't," he said.

"Well, there was a nail in the lath and it did hurt," broke in Miss Steiner.

According to the young woman's testimony, Hendel shovels sand for a contracting firm near her father's coal yard.

"Ever since he has worked there, nearly two months, he has been thrusting himself on me," she said. "When we tried to lock him out of the office he would break a window to get in and make the fire.

"He did this yesterday morning. I had been at the office only a few minutes when he came in.

"'How'd you like the fire this morning Miss Melvina?" he said.

"I told him to get out and said we didn't want him to make fires, and if he didn't quit it we would have him arrested. He grabbed me and threw me over his knee and spanked me with a lath with a nail in it."

The charge against Hendel was disturbing the peace.

DEAF MUTE COUPLE REUNITED WHEN HUSBAND SIGNS PLEDGE

Walter Grady's Trial on Wife's Charge Conducted by Writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Grady, deaf mutes, effected a reconciliation Wednesday in the Alton Police Court, after Grady's trial on his wife's charge of drunkenness had been in progress an hour. The husband signed a pledge that he would never again touch liquor, and departed arm in arm with his wife.

City Attorney Lynn was the medium of communication between the plaintiff, defendant and Judge Grosh, writing the questions and reading the answers aloud. He used half a tablet of paper finding out from Mrs. Grady how her husband went home intoxicated Tuesday night and struck her, and reading Grady's penitential promises never to do it again.

Mrs. Grady finally consented to give her husband another trial if the Judge would free him, and the couple threw their arms about one another in an extravagant demonstration of joy and love.

ASKS TO BE ELECTROCUTED AFTER ATTEMPTING SUICIDE

Adolph Stoltz walked into the office of the Chief of Police at Belleville Wednesday morning and said to Chief Nebgen: "I want to be electrocuted. Put me in the electric chair right away."

"All right," said Nebgen, calmly. "Just sit in this chair while I get the other one ready."

Stoltz dropped in an office chair and Nebgen called a policeman. The man was taken before the County Court for investigation as to his sanity.

Stoltz is a molder, 26 years old. He lives with his brother, Jacob Stoltz, on South Church street, Belleville. The brother says Adolph first showed signs of being irrational Sunday. Tuesday, the Chief of Police says, Stoltz tried to throw himself in front of an Illinois Central train at the Belleville depot.

ST. LOUIS MEN URGE ROOSEVELT AID FOR RELIEF

Telegram Sent to President Asking Him to Spur on Congress.

OTHER CITIES HELP

About Sixty Communities Asked to Send Similar Telegrams.

Currency legislation as the first business for Congress at the next session is urged in a telegram sent to President Roosevelt and Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou Tuesday by the St. Louis Business Men's League, and similar organizations in Chicago, Kansas City and St. Joseph, Mo.

The various organizations signed the telegram jointly. Following the message to Washington, about 60 cities were wired requests to send the same kind of telegraphic petitions to the national capital.

The telegram sent by the four western cities Tuesday read:

"Believing that prompt legislative measures should be adopted to prevent a repetition of existing finacial conditions, we the undersigned organizations respectfully and earnestly urge that currency legislation be the first matter considered at the coming session of Congress."

It is expected that the other cities appealed to will respond and that within the next couple of days telegrams of a like tenor will pour into the president's office fro mevery section of the country.

COUNTY EDITOR FINED $50 FOR ASSAULT ON MAN NOW FRIEND

H. H. Barnes and John Keaton Made Peace After Fight and Visited Court Together.

H. H. Barnes, editor of weekly publications at Eureka and Pacific, St. Louis County, was fined $50 and costs by Judge McElhinney at Clayton Wednesday on his plea of guilty to a charge of assaulting John Keaton with intent to kill.

Barnes quarreled with Dr. L. E. Monroe of Pacific about politics, in Keaton's saloon, and Keaton acted, he says, as peacemaker. Later, he says, Barnes met him in the street and fired at him, putting a bullet through his trousers leg. The two men have since been reconciled and appeared together in court.

Dr. Monroe has a charge of assault to kill pending against the editor.

3 ARRESTS FOLLOW KILLING OF ALLAWAY BY BURGLAR

Chicago Police Are Searching for Slayer of Former St. Louis Man.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Three men were arrested here today in connection with the search for the slayer of James W. Allaway, the wealthy commission merchant of Los Angeles, Cal., and former manager of the Armor packing plant in St. Louis, who was killed by a burglar yesterday morning at the home of his brother, Edward Allaway.

The men gave the names of John Wells, 30 years old; Edward Weber, 24 years old, and Frank White, 28 years old.

NEW YORK TRUST COMPANIES TO PAY DEPOSITORS IN FULL

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Following an extended conference in the library of J. P. Morgan, in which prominent New York bankers participated, including the heads of the various trust companies of the city and the officers of the Trust Co. of America and of the Lincoln Trust Co., the following statement was issued showing a final settlement of the difficulties that had disturbed local financial conditions. "The committee of the trust companies of New York City has had the assets of the Trust Co. of America and the Lincoln Trust Co. examined by experts who report that in their judgment, on the present basis of values, the assets of each company are sufficient to pay its depositors in full.

ON TRIAL FOR WIFE MURDER, DENIES WEDDING

Jesse B. Webb Changes Story He Told at Time of Tragedy.

SAYS SHE KILLED SELF

She Shot Him First in Smithville, Mo., Hotel, He Now Declares.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LIBERTY, Mo., Nov. 6.—Confronted by a possible conviction of wife murder, Jesse B. Webb of St. Joseph, Mo., whose trial began here today, has attacked the character of the woman who was supposed to have been his bride of two weeks at the time of her death on Oct. 11, 1906, in a hotel at Smithville, this county. He now asserts that he was not married to her; that they had known each other only three weeks, and that she shot him and killed herself when she awoke to a realization of the false position in which they had placed themselves.

This startling declaration, made in the opening statement to the jury by Webb's counsel this morning, fell like a thunderbolt upon the ears of the prosecution and of the many persons present who had become interested in the result of the proceedings.

The surprise this caused was intensified by reason of the variance from the first version of the tragedy as told by Webb and upon which it was supposed the defense would rely for an acquittal. The prisoner had stoutly maintained that he and his wife, as she was supposed to be, had entered into a suicide pact and that she shot him, then killed herself.

The dead woman was only 19 years old. She was Miss Inez Walkup, daughter of L. H. Walkup of Fairfax, Mo., when Webb met her. The State contends that Webb had known her for 6 months and that they were legally married. She had also been employed at the Asylum. Webb is 26 years old. He was an attendant at the State Hospital for the Insane at St. Joseph. His health was not good and his physicians advised him to take a vacation.

Started for Hot Springs.

About this time he met Inez Walkup, who was visiting a sister in St. Joseph. According to his first story it was a case of love at first sight, and within less than a week after their first meeting they were married. Now, he says, they just agreed to go away together and that there was no ceremony.

At any rate, they left together for Hot Springs. At Smithville they left the train and went to a hotel. Webb says his illness compelled him to stop his journey at this point, and that it was their intention to proceed the next day.

Early the following morning five shots were heard from the direction of the young couple's room. The reports followed each other in rapid succession. Several persons rushed to the room and there found both Webb and the woman lying upon the floor. There were three bullet wounds in her breast and one in her head. One bullet had entered Webb's chest.

The young woman lived but a short time and it was several hours before Webb was able to talk. When he had sufficiently revived he told of the alleged suicide pact. He stated that, realizing that he could live but a short time, owing to a disease of the lungs, they had agreed to die together.

Told of Suicide Pact.

He was to do the shooting, he said, but when the final moment came his courage deserted him. His wife, he said, took the revolver, saying she was not afraid, and shot him once and then fired the remaining four bullets into her own body.

Because of the nature of the wounds, the State's Attorney and the Coroner concluded that the woman could not have done the shooting Webb was arrested and as soon as he sufficently recovered to leave the hospital, was taken to Jail.

The jury was completed late yesterday and the State made its opening argument at the opening of court today. Prosecuting Attorney W. A. Craven outlined the case for the State. He said he would be able to show that Webb killed his wife and himself. The prosecutor admitted the possibility of a suicide pact. He is assisted by J. W. Stokes of Craig, Mo.

Webb's attorneys are M. E. Lawson, W. J. Courtney and Benjamin Reed. He oppears very nervous and looks ill. His face is much thinner than at his preliminary hearing several months ago.

The hearing of testimony began at 11 o'clock today. The first witnesses were persons who entered the room immediately after the shooting. They testified that the door was locked.

Riley to Be Assessor.

Mayor Wells will send to the City Council at its next meeting the name of James P. Riley of 1355 Dodier street, for Tax Assessor of the Seventh District, made vacant by the recent resignation of John J. Sheehan. Riley since May, 1901, has been a deputy in Assessor John J. O'Brien's office. The district assessorship pays $1800 a year

BOY WHO FIRED FALAL BULLET, AND LITTLE SISTER HE KILLED

JAMES RICHEY

CLARA RICHEY

BOY WHO SHOT HIS SISTER HAS SUICIDE MANIA

His Mother Says James Richey Has Strange Desires for Firearms.

Held for safekeeping in the Clayton Jail, James Richey, 16 years old, who shot and killed his 9-year-old sister, Clara, at their home, 2908 Oakland avenue, Maplewood, Tuesday night, is under constant guard to prevent him from taking his own life.

An effort will be made to have him sent to an asylum. His mother, Mrs. Sarah Richey, says that he is irresponsible, and that for years he has shown signs of mental weakness, a suicide mania and strange desire to carry and handle firearms.

One of the boy's delusions, Mrs. Richey says, is that he is a policeman and his mental malady is worse at certain stages of the moon. Last Saturday Mrs. Richey, alone in the house with her afflicted son, struggled with him for two hours, she says, to prevent him from killing himself with the same weapon with which he shot his little sister Tuesday night.

Children See the Tragedy.

Mrs. Richey, with her husband, Robert Richey, a contractor, left their home to go shopping in Maplewood after supper Tuesday. They left their five children, James, Lee 13, Clara 9, Thelma 6 and Ida 3, in the dining room.

"My father and mother had been gone only a short time when James went into the bedroom and returned carrying father's revolver," said Lee. "He threw out his chest and said: 'Now I'm a policeman.'

"He sat down at the table and shook the cartridges out of the revolver. I was busy studying and didn't notice that he had only taken five of them out.

"He stood up and pointed the revolver at Clara, who was sitting right opposite him, and said: 'Now, I'm going to shoot you.'

"Ida put up her hands and said: 'Are you sure you took all the cartridges out?'

"'Of course I did,' he said.

"Then he pointed the revolver right at Clara and pulled the trigger. When we heard the shot we all screamed and James ran out of the house. Clara fell back and I caught her and laid her on the floor. I ran to Kitchell's grocery store and asked Mr. Kitchell to telephone for a doctor. He and Peter Nelson went home with me.

Revolver on Table.

"The revolver was lying on the table where James had dropped it. Clara was dead.

"In a few minutes James came running into the house. He went right to the table and picked up the revolver and tried to put some cartridges in it.

"'I'm going to kill myself,' he said. He put the revolver against the side of his head and tried to pull the trigger, but Mr. Nelson and I took it away from him."

The Coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death and the boy was released. He was taken home by his parents.

Watchmaker Dueber Dead.

CANTON, O., Nov. 6.—John C. Dueber, owner of Dueber Hampden Watch Works here, said to be the largest watch factory in the world, died this afternoon.

TEETH LADEN AUTO CRASHES INTO DUMMIES

Shop Window Is Broken and Models Are Scattered Over Floor.

An automobile loaded with false teeth got from under control of the chauffeur, crashed through a plate glass window and mixed up a lot of dummies in the ladies' tailoring establishment of J. P. Pruschanski, 4132 Olive street Tuesday morning.

Nobody was injured, but the plate glass window, 7 by 14 feet, was a total wreck, the dummies were dented and the false teeth were jolted about and scratched.

The automobile belonged to the O'Brien-Wurthen Dental Supply Co., with offices in the Frisco building. It was on a delivery trip in the West End when R. E. O'Neil, the chauffeur, lost control of the machine and it pranced through the big Pruschanski window with agility and grace.

Chauffeur Deserts Machine.

O'Brien, seeing his peril, leaped from his seat and left the auto and its freight of teeth to fate. The machine curvetted and capered, bowed to the dummies, all of which were modishly attired, and then knocked them down like ten pins in a bowling alley. The dummies, being swell and wellbred, did not indulge in any unseemly or plebian screams.

At last the playful auto heaved a sigh and became quiet. In fear and trembling O'Neil and Pruschanski approached it, pulled it gingerly from the head of dummies and pushed it safely to the street.

SENTENCED AFTER THREE YEARS

N. B. Rogers Must Serve Six Months for Embezzlement.

Napoleon B. Rogers, former Postmaster at Steelville, Crawford County, Mo., was arraigned before Judge Carland in the United States District Court Wednesday morning and pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with embezzling $540.68 of Postoffice funds in September, 1904.

He was sentenced to six months' imprisonment in the Iron County Jail and fined the amount of his embezzlement. Rogers was indicted Nov. 11, 1904.

MRS. ROMADKA CHANGES PLEA

Alters It to Not Guilty, Though She Had Confessed.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Mrs. Evelyn Romadka of Milwaukee, who yesterday pleaded guilty to three charges of burglary and two of larceny, today changed it to not guilty.

Her plea yesterday was made without the advice of counsel and under the impression that the confession she had made to the police prevented her from pleading not guilty.

ACTOR HITCHCOCK SURRENDERS; SAYS HE IS NOT GUILTY

Arraigned on One of Six Indictments, He Furnishes $7500 Bail and Is Paroled.

YOUNG WIFE HYSTERICAL AS HE ANSWERS CHARGE

Counsel Says He Did Not Leave New York, but Was Victim of Nervous Prostration—"I'll Try to Regain Confidence of My Friends," He Says.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Declaring that he is innocent of the charges made against him by the District Attorney's office, based on statements made by young girls, Raymond Hitchcock, the comedian, who disappeared following his indictment by the grand jury, unexpectedly appeared at the Criminal Court Building this morning, surrendered to the authorities, was arraigned on one of six indictments, pleaded not guilty, furnished $7500 bail and was paroled in custody of his counsel. While the actor was in court his wife remained in the District Attorney's office, weeping hysterically.

Hitchcock's counsel said the actor had not been out of New York, but had been suffering from nervous prostration as a result of the charges. This, he said, was the first day he had been able to go out.

Hitchcock looked pale and haggard and showed signs of illness. He said he had decided to face his accusers and try to win back the confidence of his friends and the public.

Decides to Stand Trial.

"I am innocent," he said, "and the only way for me to prove it is to stand trial. I am prepared to fight it out now and I'll go through with it."

Since Hitchcock's disappearance the police of the entire eastern section of the United States and Canada have been searching for him, but absolutely nothing of his whereabouts was known to the public until he appeared at the Criminal Court building today.

Bail Fixed at $7500.

He went directly to the District Attorney's office, whence, accompanied by his wife and counsel, he was taken to the Court of General Sessions, where bail was fixed at $7500.

The first intimation of trouble came several months ago, when Hitchcock was appearing in the leading role in "A Yankee Tourist," through the publication of a story in a local newspaper, containing practically the same allegations as those that led to the indictments.

No action of any kind was taken at that time, however, and it was not until the opening of the present theatrical season, which found Hitchcock again appearing in "A Yankee Tourist," that the storm broke.

The first real sensation came when the actor caused the arrest, on a charge of blackmail, of a brother of one of the young girls, whose name had been mentioned in the charges against Hitchcock. A few days later Hitchcock was summoned to the office of the District Attorney and was arrested on a charge of criminal assault. Two days subsequently, while he was at liberty on bail, indictments were returned by the grand jury and simultaneously Hitchcock dropped out of sight.

THIS IS ROOSEVELT'S SECOND TIME ON EARTH, SAYS ILLINOIS DOCTOR

President Is a Special Reincarnation of a Soul Sent as a Guide, Dr. Cole Asserts.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Dr. Alfred L. Cole, medical director of the G. A. R. of Illinois, has new theories on the human race.

In an address before the Progression Health Club he divided the evolution of humanity into seven "root races," each of which has seven "sub races."

We, he says, are in the fifth sub race of the fifth root race, humanity being 18,600,000 years old.

Incidental to the unfolding of particulars concerning the Chicagoan of the future, Dr. Cole made the following assertions:

"President Roosevelt is a special reincarnation of a soul which has completed its destiny of reincarnations on this earth and has been replaced on earth by a special dispensation of Providence to help guide humanity in a crucial period.

"Mayor Busse has had about fifty reincarnations. As there is a period of 1500 years between succeeding reincarnations, the age of the Mayor's intangible personality may be figured by the arithmetician."

ST. LOUIS GETS INFECTED MILK, INSPECTOR SAYS

D. F. Luckey Finds Ten Per Cent of Fifty Herds Have Tuberculosis.

D. F. Luckey, State veterinarian, stated to a Post-Dispatch reporter Wednesday that the general milk supply of St. Louis is contaminated with milk from herds that have tuberculosis.

He says he found tuberculosis in herds outside St. Louis whose milk is shipped to the city.

Luckey has inspected about 50 herds since he has held office, he says. In 10 per cent of them he found tuberculosis, according to State Pure Food Commissioner R. M. Washburn.

Many of these 50 herds inspected by Luckey were in St. Louis County, Luckey says. When they were found to be healthy their owners were authorized to ship certified milk.

Luckey says the only way for St. Louisans to be positively sure that there is absolutely no contagion in their milk is to get this certified milk or get milk from dairies that have certificates of health.

Luckey made these statements at the St. Louis Skin and Cancer Hospital, Wednesday following a conference there between Dr. Guthrie McConnell, Mr. Washburn and himself.

Dr. McConnell is the bacteriologist of the State Board of Health. One object of the conference was to devise plans by which these officials might work effectively together.

At present Mr. Washburn has power to take samples of milk from the herds throughout the State, but has no facilities for making examinations of the samples. Luckey has the power of inspecting cattle, when requested to do so by the owners of the herds, but no power to compel an inspection.

A plan was agreed on by the conference to be submitted to the State Board of Health at its meeting in St. Louis Nov. 19. The conferees declined to make public the details of the plan prior to its approval by the Board of Health.

To Enforce Law.

It is known that the plan involves an amendment of the present State laws which will permit the enforcement of a quarantine against impure milk once it is discovered.

It is also thought to involve a plan of effective inspection in the large cities of Missouri by a joint arrangement of the State and city authorities.

Luckey says he has established a quarantine in cases where he found herds infected, but was unable to prevent the owner from continuing to milk. This official blames politicians who are friendly to cattle interests for the weakness of the laws.

Pure Food Commissioner Washburn says Missouri and St. Louis are far behind other states and cities in their laws and regulations to insure pure milk.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

CHECKS ANNOY LABOR MEN IN SESSION HERE

Delegates to Railroad Men's Conference Can't Cash Them.

SOME REFUSE PAPER

Nothing but Cashier's Checks Got From Bank on $1000 Draft.

The twenty members of the Joint Board of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers Wednesday decided to cut short their session at the Madison Hotel.

When J. M. Brickhaus, secretary and treasurer of the board, produced a stack of cashiers' checks with which to pay the members for their services, ten threw them on the table. The other ten members took the slips of paper, but at noon only one of them, G. L. Weston of Kansas City, had succeeded in having his cashed.

"I couldn't have done that if I hadn't met an old friend who had some money," said Watson. "I took one of the checks for $10 to a haberdasher's store on Broadway and bought two collars for 25 cents. When I handed over the check the clerk said he was sorry, but he couldn't give me change unless I bought $1 worth of goods. I gave him back his collars and walked out with the check."

Paid Men in Checks.

Treasurer Brickbauer said: "When it came time to pay off the members of the Board the Brotherhood sent me a draft for $1000 on the Dime Savings Trust Co. of Peoria, Ill. A business man here suggested that I deposit it at the Central National Bank.

"They took the draft and gave me cashier's checks for its value. I understood that they were as good as money, but we have found that while they probably are all right, they do not circulate as readily as greenbacks. Some of the board members who cashed them were held up by sharks, who charged them $1 on each $10 check.

"The members who have refused to take them state as their reason that they cannot deposit them in their home banks and that they would have to spend them before leaving town tonight or lose money on them. Many merchants will cash the $1 checks, but they balk on the $5 and $10 denominations."

Mr. Brickhaus instructed those members who had checks to go to the Central National bank and use them to buy drafts on their home banks.

J. J. Acrea of Council Groves, Kas., tried this but he says it would not work. "They told me they would give me a draft if I were properly identified," he said. "Now I don't know anybody in St. Louis."

SUMMARY OF THE RESULTS OF YESTERDAY'S ELECTIONS

MASSACHUSETTS—Entire Republican State ticket, headed by Gov. Curtis Guild, re-elected. Guild's plurality is 150,000, as against 30,000 in 1906. Both branches of the Legislature are Republican.

PENNSYLVANIA—John O. Sheatz (Rep.) elected State Treasurer by large majority. Other results unimportant.

NEW YORK—All the Independence League (Hearst) candidates defeated. Except for a few minor victories, the Republicans, who fused with Hearst, suffered decisive reverses. Hearst's old campaign manager, Max Ihmsen, was defeated for Sheriff by Tom Foley, the Tammany candidate.

MARYLAND—Entire Democratic ticket, headed by Judge Austin L. Crothers, elected by about 7000 plurality.

RHODE ISLAND—Gov. James H. Higgins was re-elected over the Republican candidate, Frederick H. Jackson, by 2300 plurality. The General Assembly is Republican in both branches, insuring the return of George P. Wetmore to the U. S. Senate.

MISSISSIPPI—Democratic ticket, headed by E. F. Noel for Governor, was not opposed, and was elected by a light vote.

KENTUCKY—Entire Republican State ticket, headed by Augustus E. Willson for Governor, elected by majorities ranging from 5000 to 10,000. The Legislature will have a Democratic majority on joint ballot and probably will elect Gov. Beckham to the U. S. Senate.

NEBRASKA—Latest returns indicate Republicans carried the State by a majority of about 20,000. Judge M. B. Reese (Rep.) was elected to the Supreme Bench.

CALIFORNIA—"Anti-graft" party won sweeping victory in San Francisco. Taylor, Good Government candidate for Mayor was elected by about 14,000 plurality, while District Attorney Langdon, Good Government, was elected by about 20,000 plurality.

OHIO—Tom Johnson carried Cleveland for Mayor by 9313 plurality over Theodore E. Burton (Rep.), who made the race for Mayor with the indorsement of President Roosevelt. At Toledo, Mayor Brand Whitlock was re-elected, carrying the entire Independent ticket in with him. In Cincinnati, Col. Leopold Markbreit (Rep.) was elected Mayor by 8271 majority over his four opponents. Both Republican candidates for Superior Judge were elected. The new City Council will have 24 Republicans and five Democrats. At Columbus, Bond (Rep.) was elected Mayor, and announced that he would enforce the Sunday laws.

LEWIS LOSES ONE POINT AND WINS ANOTHER

Judge Overrules Motion to Dismiss Cases on Technicality.

The selection of the jury that is to try Edward G. Lewis in the United States District Court on the charge of using the mails in a scheme to defraud by the organization and promotion of the now defunct People's United States Bank was begun in the United States District Court Wednesday morning.

All day Tuesday was spent by the array of legal talent, representing the Government and Lewis, in the first skirmishes of the legal fight that is expected to take more than a week.

When court convened Wednesday Judge Carland overruled the motion of Lewis' attorneys, made and argued at length by both sides Tuesday, to quash the indictments in the bank cases against Lewis on the ground that they were illegal because the names of the witnesses against Lewis before the grand jury were not indorsed on the back of the indictments. That was the first point the attorneys for the Government have scored.

Defense Gets Point.

At the same time Judge Carland afforded the defense an important point by sustaining the motion of Lewis' attorneys to vacate an order issued last week by Judge McPherson, consolidating the four indictments against Lewis in the bank matter. The Government wanted to try all the four indictments, which charge the same offense, at once.

Judge Carland ruled that inasmuch as the Federal statute did not permit of more than three counts being put in one indictment, although they charged the same offense, the four indictments could not be combined. That would be equivalent to 12 counts in one indictment, Judge Carland held, since each of the four indictments in the bank case contains three counts.

As soon as these preliminary points, raised by the defense, were disposed of United States Attorney Blodgett began to select the jury. It has not been decided whether or not the outcome of the trial on the first of the four indictments will be used as a precedent in the other three. It is considered probable that the Government will demand trial on all four of the indictments, trying one case as soon as the other is finished.

Madden a Spectator.

Edwin C. Madden, former Third Assistant Postmaster-General, whose resignation from the Postmaster-General's office several months ago was diplomatically obtained by the Administration some months ago, has been an earnest spectator in the courtroom since the beginning of the trial Tuesday morning. He sat near Lewis and his attorneys, and it is expected that he will be used as a witness by the defense. His presence has only been known to a few of the higher Post-office officials.

NECK AND NECK FOR GOVERNOR IN NEW JERSEY

Race Is So Close That Only Official Count Can Decide It.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The official count of the ballots cast yesterday will be required to determine who was elected Governor of New Jersey. Returns are coming in slowly, but the figures indicate that J. Franklin Fort (Rep.) has overcome the big lead run up last night by Frank S. Katzenbach (Dem.), and that Judge Fort will win by about 5000 plurality. It depends altogether on the result in Hudson County, which includes Jersey City.

Hudson County last night was placed in the tables as giving 15,000 for Katzenbach. The figures as compiled today indicate that the plurality may not go above 10,000 or 12,000. The Legislature will be Republican in both branches. The new Senate, which will show a gain of one Democrat, will stand: Republicans 14; Democrats, 7. The lower house will stand: Republicans, 42; Democrats, 18.

Gov. Guild of Massachusetts increased his plurality 150,000, against 30,000 in 1906. The entire State ticket and both branches of the Legislature are Republican. Of the two Democratic candidates, Henry M. Whitney strongly outran Bartlett, the latter falling far below Thomas L. Hisgen, candidate of the Independence League.

Democrats Carry Maryland.

Maryland, which was in doubt last night, has elected the Democratic candidate for Governor, Judge Austin L. Crothers, and the entire Democratic State ticket by about 7000 plurality. The Legislature is apparently Democratic. Ex-Governor Smith carried the primaries for the long term in the United States Senate, and Senator William Pinckney White is assured of the short term.

Rhode Island has re-elected Governor James H. Higgins, Democratic candidate for Governor, with a plurality now reaching 2307, a gain of 1000 since 1904. The General Assembly is Republican in both branches, insuring the return of George Peabody Wetmore to the United State Senate.

Kentucky has elected the entire Republican State ticket, headed by Augustus E. Willson for Governor, by majorities ranging from 5000 to 10,000. The Kentucky Legislature will have a Democratic majority on joint ballot and propably will elect Governor Beckham to the United State Senate.

Tom Johnson Wins Again.

In Cleveland Mayor Tom Johnson was re-elected over Congressman Theodore E. Burton, who was backed by the administration at Washington. Congressman Burton is one of the most ardent Ohio supporters of Taft for President, and yesterday's defeat may have a far-reaching effect in Ohio politics in 1908.

The election of a Republican Governor in Kentucky also may have more significance than appears on the surface. It may mean the end of the Goebel feud, the return to Kentucky of W. S. Taylor, who fled the State following the assassination of Goebel, and it may mean the acquittal of Caleb Powers, the famous political "martyr."

William Randolph Hearst, whose political career is chiefly a long string of disappointments, met defeat again yesterday. His Independence League had fused with the Republicans in New York County, and Max Ihmsen, Hearst's old campaign manager, was their candidate for Sheriff against Tom Foley, Tammany candidate. Foley won hands down, and practically every fusion candidate was buried by the Democrats.

Out in San Francisco good government scored a victory. The "anti-graft" party elected Taylor Mayor and returned District Attorney Langdon, the prosecutor of the grafters, to office by a big plurality.

Fined for Concealing Accidents.

When J. L. Minnis of the legal department of the Wabash Railroad plead guilty to the charge of violating the Interstate Commerce laws by failing to report accidents, he was fined $200 by Judge Carland in the United States District Court. Twenty-three accidents were said to have happened in July and August of 1903 that were not reported.

What is Catarrh?

A Dangerous Disease Affecting Thousands —Positive Proof of Impure Blood.

It is an inflammation of the mucous membrane, and may affect the head, throat, stomach, bowels, or bladder.

CATARRH IN THE HEAD is most common, often coming on so gradually that it has a firm hold before the nature of the trouble is suspected.

Catarrh is aggravated by a succession of colds, but depends on impure blood. When chronic it is liable to develop into consumption. It is therefore very serious.

The true remedy for catarrh is Hood's Sarsaparilla, because as a constitutional remedy it thoroughly purifies the blood, strikes at the root of the trouble and removes the cause.

This great medicine reaches the delicate passages of the mucous membrane, soothes and rebuilds the tissues, giving them healthy condition and ultimately curing the affection.

Do not delay, but begin treatment at once with

"I have for years been a sufferer from catarrh. I was in such a condition that the dropping of the mucus on arising in the morning was almost unbearable. It would take me a long time to clear my throat. I had pains in my head and a roaring, buzzing sound in my ears. I tried various remedies, but obtained no relief until I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. This medicine has done me more good than all the others I have ever taken. I feel like a new person, and recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all sufferers from catarrhal troubles." MRS. R. BRANNAN, Talladega, Ala.

KAVANAUGH LOSES FIGHT TO KEEP OLD TROLLEY FRANCHISE

Court of Appeals Holds That Fourth and Arsenal Contract Cannot Be Enforced.

The St. Louis Court of Appeals has affirmed the decision of a lower court that a contract permitting the Fourth and Arsenal street car lines to use the tracks of the Peoples Railway, acquired by the St. Louis Traction Co. in 1899, cannot be enforced. W. K. Kavanaugh, who owns the franchise of the old Fourth street and Arsenal line, was the plaintiff in the action and the St. Louis Traction Co. the defendant.

There is now pending in the Circuit Court a suit instituted by the State to forfeit the charter of the Fourth street and Arsenal line for nonuse. The franchise is said to run until 1932, but the tracks have long been covered. Action was commenced one year ago, when the Manufacturers' Railway obtained a franchise over practically the same route.

"LIGHT SEEKER" DENIED DIVORCE

Mrs. Anna Heidbreder Admits Attending Spiritualist Meetings.

The real cause of dissension between Anna Heidbreder of 2413 Benton street and Henry Heidbreder, whom she sued for divorce, was her Spiritualistic tendencies, Judge McDonald found Wednesday, when the husband appeared in his court on a subpena he caused to be issued.

"Why didn't you appear in the suit without being summoned?" Judge Taylor asked, after Heidbreder was put on the stand.

"Well, I don't love her," Heidbreder replied, "and I paid her $55 allmony and agreed not to appear."

"The case is dismissed," said Judge Taylor.

Mrs. Heibreder said she was not a Spiritualist, but attended the meetings and was "seeking light."

A Reliable Remedy for the

Whiskey and Beer Habit

Very few men become drunkards because they like liquor. It is frequently the moderate drinker, who, before he realizes his condition, has become a drunkard. The nervous system, having become accustomed to stimulants, is unable to do the same amount or quality of work without liquor, hence the victim drinks more and more. This is a state of disease and should be treated by Orrine. It destroys the desire for liquor, so that the drink is not missed. There is no loss of time or detention from work when it is used.

Orrine is prepared in two forms: No. 1, the secret remedy which can be used in food or drink without the knowledge of the patient; No. 2 for those who take the remedy of their own free will. Both forms are guaranteed. A registered guarantee in every box.

Treatise on how to cure drunkenness free on request. The Orrine Co., Washington, D. C. The price of either form is $1 a box, making the cost of the complete cure less than one-tenth what it is usually charged at sanitariums, with a guarantee that the expense will be nothing unless a cure is gained. Mail orders filled in plain sealed package on receipt of price.

Orrine is for sale in St. Louis by Wilkinson Drug Co., 6th and Olive streets.

STRIKE IS OFF; OPERATORS GO BACK TO WORK

Stampede for Old Jobs Follows Vote of Union in Chicago.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—The strike of telegraph operators has collapsed. Strikers joined today in a stampede for their old positions, following action by the Chicago local union No. 2, at which a vote of 212 for and 109 against was cast on a resolution to surrender unconditionally.

Because of a clause in the constitution of the union, it was held that a two-thirds vote is necessary to carry a proposition to end a strike, and the resolution was declared lost by a narrow margin of two votes.

A hot argument followed on the part of those who contended that the resolution was not an action to terminate the strike, but to convey the wish of the Chicago local to the Executive Board. However, a committee from the local body will meet the National Board this afternoon and it is considered a certainty that the order for peace will be spread to all union members throughout the country.

This action will end the strike that has existed for three months. The strikers are reported as practically considering themselves beaten and will make offers of unconditional surrender, it is admitted.

The action of the Chicago Union came only after violent signs of disruption had been discerned in the ranks of the strikers. Hundreds of operators in different parts of the United States had wearied of the struggle and in scattered bands had asked for re-employment at the hands of their old officials.

All efforts of the union leaders to gain concessions to their demands have proved fruitless, as the company officials refused to treat with their former employes. It is known that the order to seek their former positions will be welcome to a large majority of the operators.

The strike was called Aug. 3, and few desertions were recorded prior to the time when President S. J. Small was ousted from his office after trying to call off the strike against the wishes of the men. After the internal troubles that started with Small's suspension from the presidency, many of the operators throughout the country made applications for their old places. The gradual disintegration of the strike movement has been apparent since.

The operators at Milwaukee voted to return to work today independently of the action that will be taken at the Executive Board meeting. New York telegraphers will also vote today to end the struggle.

WEALTHY FARMER KILLED BY TRAIN WHILE DRIVING HOME

Adam Vollmer Meets With a Fatal Accident Near Belleville, Ill.

While returning home, Adam Vollmer, aged 38 years, a wealthy farmer residing seven miles southeast of Belleville, was struck by a northbound passenger train on the Illinois Central railroad about three miles southeast of that city and instantly killed. The horses were not injured.

Vollmer evidently thought he could cross the track in time, for at the place where the accident occurred he could see approaching trains.

The engineer stopped the train as soon as possible and took the body to Belleville, where an inquest was held Wednesday morning. Vollmer narrowly escaped death about three years ago when he blew out the gas in a room at the National Hotel in Belleville. He was a single man and lived with his brother, Henry. He also leaves a brother, Jacob Vollmer, and three sisters, Mrs. John Kuebelbeck, Mrs. Lena

GIVEN THREE DAYS TO LIVE

Young Lady Rescued From the Brink of the Grave and Made Strong and Well by Father John's Medicine.

"It is with a heart full of gratitude that I tell what Father John's medicine has done for me. I had a terrible cough and was so weak that the family physician gave me up, giving me but three days to live. It was then that I began to take Father John's Medicine. Any person who saw me then would hardly know me now, I am so well, and the credit belongs to Father John's Medicine. My little brother drinks the medicine like water and thrives on it." (Signed) Mary A. E. Reynolds, 2410 117th St., Chicago, Ill.

Remember, Father John's Medicine is not a patent medicine, but the prescription of the eminent specialist who prescribed it for the late Rev. Father John O'Brien, by whom it was recommended and from whom it derived its name. It is free from opium, morphine or any of the poisonous nerve-deadening drugs or weakening stimulants upon which the majority of patent medicines depend for their temporary effect, and which are dangerous — you are warned against them. Fifty years in use. Guaranteed.

Father John's Medicine builds up the body and makes flesh and strength.

INSURANCE FIGHT KILLS COMPETITION

Witness Says Companies Have Been Drawn Closer by Hadley's Efforts.

RATES ARE UNIFORM

George W. Markham Admits That He Has Tried to Appeal Anti-Trust Laws.

By Long Distance Telephone From a Post-Dispatch Correspondent.

SEDALIA, Mo., Nov. 6.—George D. Markham, a general insurance agent in St. Louis, was put on the stand this morning before Judge Longan, in Attorney-General Hadley's suit against the "Insurance Trust" in Missouri. In the course of his testimony he declared that Mr. Hadley's attacks on the insurance companies had driven them closer together, so that the competition was much less keen than formerly.

"Do you mean that the effort to execute the anti-trust law has caused the insurance companies to band themselves even more closely together?" Mr. Hadley asked.

"No, but it has caused a friendlier feeling between them," Markham replied. Mr. Hadley asked him if he hadn't made repeated efforts to have the insurance anti-trust laws repealed, going before the Legislature for that purpose. Markham admitted that he had.

"Was your purpose to do away with these laws so that the insurance companies could come out into the open with their trust?" Mr. Hadley asked.

"There has never been any concealment," Markham replied, "but I consider the present laws injurious. I do not believe in competition between insurance companies."

Markham admitted that he had been active to bring about a 10 per cent increase on fire insurance rates after the Baltimore fire. He said this was due to the fact that the Baltimore disaster threw new light on city risks, and showed that the danger of a general conflagration had been underestimated.

Markham admitted that he charged the same rates for all companies he represents. Not to do so, he said, would drive out those charging the higher rate.

Mr. Hadley tried to bring out that an association known as the Western Union, composed of insurance officials, issues a bulletin fixing insurance rates, but Markham said he had never seen but one of these bulletins, and that about three years ago. His memory as to its contents was hazy. He is not a member of the association, he said, because it is composed only of executive officials of insurance companies—not of agents.

NEGRO SPEAKER SCORES HOWE AND "CONVERTED REPUBLICANS"

C. H. Tandy Declares City Chairman Is Not Representative of Majority of Party.

C. H. Tandy, negro, second vice-president of the Missouri Republican Club of St. Louis, in an address before that organization declared that Jeptha D. Howe, chairman of the Republican City Central Committee, "was not representative of the majority of the Republican voters of St. Louis." He pleaded for a "more tried and true Republican" to lead the party in St. Louis, alleging that Howe's party loyalty was open to question.

Marcus Strait, another of the speakers at the meeting held Tuesday night at 2801 Franklin avenue, urged the entire reorganization of the City Central Committee. He objected to having party policies dictated by "converted Republicans." John H. Pohlman presided over the meeting.

A Great Stride in Collar Machines

The universal dissatisfaction caused by the distinctive collar shaping machines used in most laundries has been overcome by Mr. Woolger of the Monarch Laundry. A set of machines has been installed in the Monarch Laundry which do away with all possibility of cracked collars. A cord stretching over pulleys and which running through alcohol and water is therefore always moist passes over that part of the collar which is to be turned, making it pliable before being turned. To insure perfect work each collar is shaped by hand before passing to a high-y polished cylindrical device, the edge of which is surmounted by an adjusted plate which keeps the collar from being folded too sharply and keeps it in such shape that a tie can be slipped to and fro without the least difficulty. Mr. Woolger declares that these machines, while lengthening the life of a collar 50 per cent, enables the Monarch Laundry to turn out by far the finest collar work in St. Louis.

ROOSEVELT JR. IS AGAIN INJURED

Promotion at Harvard Results in Spraining Tendon.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 6.—Theodore Roosevelt Jr. was injured Tuesday afternoon while playing at left end in the Harvard varsity for the first time. His promotion to the first squad came as a surprise, and young Teddy began by playing very fast. His tackling was brilliant. After a few minutes he emerged from a scrimmage with a sprained tendon in his left ankle. No bones were broken. Coach Leary helped the President's son from the gridiron.

EVIDENCE THROWN DOWN CELL SEWER

State Attempts to Show Albert Merzlinger Tore Pocket From Coat.

An effort was made Wednesday in Judge Muench's court, where Albert Nerzlinger is on trial charged with throwing sulphuric acid into Mrs. Lena Wunsch's face and blinding her, to show that after he was placed in Jail he tore out a pocket of his coat and threw it into the sewer opening in his cell, remarking to his cellmate, "There goes the last shred of evidence against me."

Nerzlinger's shoes have already been introduced in evidence, and stains, said to have been made by acid, have been exhibited to the jury. Assistant Circuit Attorney Newton says that the mutilated pocket also showed acid stains.

When Newton questioned Nerzlinger about this the man strongly denied it. Gus Rose, Nerzlinger's cellmate, was waiting to take the stand in the case.

Nerzlinger maintains that he was at Manulon's Garden at the time of the acid throwing, on the evening of June 9. The acid was thrown into Mrs. Wunsch's face, at the mouth of an alley, on Osceola street, between Thirteenth street and Grand avenue.

To Paint City Hall.

The contract for painting the exterior wood and metal work of the City Hall will be let by the Board of Public Improvements Nov. 19. It is expected to cost about $1800. A portion of the Four Courts is to be remodeled into a chamber for the Court of General Sessions, and the contract will be let in the near future.

Many persons who can't drink coffee without lying awake at night, fine Postum Food Coffee agrees with them perfectly.

The important thing is is to boil the Postum at least 15 minutes so that its flavour and full food value may be obtained. When made right and taken hot with good cream and sugar to suit one's taste, Postum is delicious as Java coffee.

Made of wheat, it contains no drug or other harmful substance.

Try Postum 10 days, while you leave off coffee with its drug, caffeine.

NEGRO CHURCH IS STIRRED UP OVER PASTOR

He Is Designated in Charges by Deacons as "the Pulpit Supply."

The Board of Deacons of the First Baptist Church, colored, has brought charges of 'disorderly walks" against the "pulpit supply" of the church, the Rev. H. H. Cole. The deacons will endeavor to prove his guilt at a meeting of the Board, to be held at the church, Thirteenth street and Park avenue, Thursday evening.

Only the Board of Deacons knows exactly what the alleged "disorderly walks" consisted of. The charge may be a sort of canonical John Doe warrant to cover a multitude of sins, or it may be that the alleged offense is specific and that the perambulations of the minister will be denounced as riotous and turbulent.

The Rev. R. H. Cole also is charged with unlawfully attempting to boss the church, when, as a matter of fact, say the deacons, he is nothing but a mere "pulpit supply," holding down the pastorate on sufferance, and no more secure in his position than a fat pullet in an unlocked chicken roost.

Appointed by Church.

"The pulpit supply" was appointed by the church following the resignation of the last pastor about a year ago. The deacons say he was hired for the sole purpose of preaching at two Sunday services each week. Church discipline, government and fiscal affairs were without his province, the deacons maintain.

But, they now declare, "the pulpit supply" arrogated unto himself an unseemly domination of the church government, and even went so far recently as to hurl an anathema of excommunication against the heads of Brother John Bailey and Sisters Nora Lee and Mary Rivens, who had incurred his displeasure.

But the deacons answered promptly with the hottest shot they could prepare—the charges of "disorderly walks"—and employed Process Server Andy Watson to serve "the pulpit supply" with the ecclesiastical indictment.

Dispute Over Office.

Brother J. G. Epps says he is chairman of the Board of Deacons and Brother N. Harrison secretary. However, Rev. Cole says he is ex-officio chairman of the Board. The dispute about the chairmanship may become lively and cause a postponement of the inquiry into the alleged "disorderly walks."

Rev. Cole, in addition to being "pulpit supply" of the church, is principal of the Simmons School, one of the largest negro public schools in St. Louis.

TRIP DOWN RIVER IN OPEN ROWBOAT HAS FATAL ENDING

Charles Eldredge Dies of Exposure and Companion Returns.

Charles Williams returned Wednesday to Alton from a two-weeks' trip in an open rowboat down the Mississippi River, during which his companion, Charles Eldredge, died from exposure. Eldredge was suffering from rheumatism and asthma before he left Alton, but would not listen to the advice of his friends that he go South by railroad and not on the river. He had lived on the river all his life, he said, and did not believe it could hurt him.

Eleven miles below Hickman, Ky., the two men went into camp Saturday night, pitching a small tent they carried, and during the night Eldredge died. Williams remained at Hickman until an inquest was held and the body buried.

HUSBAND WHOSE RIVAL WAS CIGARETTES, GETS DIVORCE

Charles W. Kimmuth Freed From Wife, Who Loved a Smoke, by Default.

Mrs. Jannie M. Kimmuth was, according to testimony, so devoted to cigarettes that she told her husband, Charles W. Kimmuth, she would not give them up for any man. He thereupon sued her for divorce, which was granted by default Tuesday in the Circuit Court.

Kimmuth testified that his middle-aged wife smoked until she impaired her health, and that his protests during their 19 years of married life were unavailing. He said he had left her four times on account of her love of tobacco, but had become reconciled on account of their daughter, who is blind. The family lives at 3304 North Ninth street.

JOE SHEEHAN, FINDER OF LOST PERSONS, LOSES SELF

He Is Police Telephone Clerk and May Be Hiding in a Transmitter.

Joseph Sheehan—not the leading tenor of the stranded opera troupe—but the world-renowned telephone operator at Police Headquarters, is mysteriously missing. Just think of it. Joe Sheehan, the boy wonder, who in his official capacity of "hello" switchman has found more lost children, horses, cows, dogs and cats than any other boy in St. Louis, is himself being sought by friends. His friends are the other police telephone operators, who miss his cheerful voice over the wire. When last seen Sheehan was seated complacently at his desk in the little room adjoining Chief of Detectives Smith's office at headquarters. The last piece of business he transacted was the taking of a description of a flea-bitten bay mare that had wandered from its fireside. Then Sheehan vanished.

A Clothing Sensation!

A Chance to Save ⅓ or More on New Fall Suits and Overcoats

EXISTING financial conditions bring to you the greatest clothing opportunity that you have known at this season of the year, and we are safe in saying that it is an event without a parallel in the retail clothing history of St. Louis.

TWO prominent New York clothing manufacturers who indulged in speculation were caught in the recent stock flurry, and their urgent need of cash prompted them to make enormous sacrifices on a great deal of the stock they had on hand.

OUR buyer was in the market at that time, and made purchases that would be impossible under ordinary conditions. The manufacturers had to have money at once, and the sacrifices they made were but trivial compared with the loss that would have been entailed providing the cash was not secured.

IT is lucky for us and for you that our buyer happened to be on the spot at the psychological moment and relieved them of their financial distress, and at the same time of a great deal of their fine clothing, which we are able to offer at prices never before known at the beginning of a season.

OF course no names can be mentioned in the transaction. We would be doing them a rank injustice, and benefiting no one, not even ourselves, for the character of the clothing is evident, and their labels have been removed and ours substituted. It is a sale that appeals forcibly to every man interested in fall and winter wearing apparel of every character.

THERE is a great variety of Suits embracing countless models, fabrics and patterns. The is practically an unlimited range for choosing at price, and you are saving fully ⅓ on any garment ay select.

THERE are Overcoats, Raincoats Topcoats galore, in a diversity of styles and materials; sizes to fit every man, whether he is of regular build, slender or stout.

Here's the way the garments have been grouped

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Increase the Good from Your Food

To obtain the best results from our efforts is or should be our constant aim—in the business life, or in the home circle—in the serious affairs which cross our path or in the moments given to relaxation and pleasure. Your stomach manufactures energy for the body from the food you eat. The condition of your blood, nerves, brain, bones, muscles and flesh depend upon the nourishment extracted from the food. When you are pale, nervous, weak or out of condition you may be sure that your stomach is not working properly. Food is passing through it without being converted into health-giving elements. You are not getting the good out of what you eat. The stomach does not need more food—it simply wants the power to get the nourishment out of the food. And the stomach can get this power from Beecham's Pills.

Beecham's Pills mingle with the contents of the stomach, and insure proper digestion and assimilation. They strengthen the entire digestive tract and increase the good from the food by assisting the stomach to make use of the blood-making and health-making properties in the food. Not only do Beecham's Pills do this, but they stimulate the liver to healthy action and aid the kidneys in the functions of purification and elimination. Beecham's Pills will make you feel fit and well and able to enjoy life.

For weak stomach, mal-assimilation, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, poor blood, and all conditions caused by lack of nourishment, there is no other remedy so prompt, safe and reliable as Beecham's Pills.

BANKS USING CARE; GIVE CASH WHERE NEEDED

Institutions in Big Cities Adopt Some Expedient to Regulate Currency Flow.

SMALL CHECK PLAN

St. Louis Seems to Lead All Others in Helping Out Business Men.

News dispatches from 13 large cities, widely separated, indicate that the banks in many of them are adopting some expedient to regulate the flow of currency from their vaults, although few appear to have gone to the extent that St. Louis has.

Baltimore says: "The scrip system prevails in Baltimore only to a very small extent. Cash is procurable by those who have real need of it."

Cincinnati: "The situation is practically same here as in St. Louis."

New Orleans: "Clearing house banks decided to issue credit currency in the shape of cashier's small checks; not in circulation yet."

Adopting St. Louis Plan.

San Francisco: "San Francisco banks are pursuing the same plans as St. Louis. Merchants generally accept certificates, although some refuse them. Speculation in gold is said already to have begun on a small scale."

St. Paul: "St. Paul payrolls are all paid in cash and it is not expected that cashiers' checks will be used here. Cashiers' checks have been used in Minneapolis and Duluth."

Omaha, Neb.: "Omaha banks furnish currency for pay rolls. Most employers used part cash and part cashier's certificates last Saturday. All cashier's certificates are redeemable through the clearing house and circulate freely as cash."

Washington, D. C.: "Our banks are doing business on a perfectly normal basis. No good check has ever been presented here without instantly producing the cash."

Cleveland, O.: "Many Cleveland pay rolls are being paid in scrip of $5 and $10. Certified checks of the Cleveland Clearing House are good in exchange as legal tender. No trouble working out of this."

New York Paying Up.

New York: "New York banks pay in full cash. Savings banks took advantage of the 30, 60 and 90-day clauses, but even they are paying small checks upon presentation. One or two trust companies that were in trouble but did not close are resorting to dilatory tactics. For instance, on Tuesday but one messenger got to the teller's wondow at the Trust Company of America, and he only got rid of 150 of his 600 checks. Overwhelming number of New York banks have had no serious trouble."

Dallas, Tex.: "Dallas banks are now cashing checks for pay rolls. They are not issuing small cashier's checks."

Chicago: "Banks here are paying currency for pay-rolls, and also cashing checks for reasonable amounts on checking accounts. A committee of five hundred business men petitioned the Clearing House Committee to issue scrip in small denominations to meet pay-rolls, but the committee said it was not necessary at this time. No trouble here to get money in reasonable sums. Nearly all banks are cashing pay checks freely."

Paying Out Gold.

Portland, Ore.: "Banks here are taking care of all payrolls, so far, in cash, and are paying out gold where it is actually needed for commercial purposes. Otherwise payments to depositors are limited to from $100 to $200 a week and savings depositors are required to give thirty, sixty or ninety days' notice, as the case may be. Banks have begun to issue scrip in $5, $10, $15 and $20 denominations. This is based on collateral deposited with the clearing house and is redeemable in gold Feb. 1. Scrip is backed by wheat, fish, lumber and other products actually in warehouse or in shipment, face of scrip not exceeding 75 per cent of the value of these securities. Banks are protected by legal holidays declared from day to day by the Governor."

Seattle, Wash.: "Seattle banks are paying all pay-roll checks in cash and it is understood that they will continue to pay industrial payrolls, although they will begin issuing Clearing House certificates on Friday next. The bank reserves here are the best in the country today, but they were forced to adopt the Clearing House certificate system in self-defense, as, while the home institutions honored out of town collections in cash, those of Coast cities would honor Seattle collections only with credits. The local banks now hold $12,000,000 in gold and currency out of $7,000,000 deposits."

Some amusing incidents are related by business men who have taken in for redemption small checks issued by the St. Louis banks. One man had 100 checks for $1 each. He felt faint when told that he would have to indorse them. He protested that it would take him an hour to write his name across the back of them. His protestations availed him nothing, and he had to sit down and patiently write his name on each of the checks.

The financial stringency is showing some effect on local business. A high railroad official said: "Orders for cars for shipping all manner of stuff have fallen off to almost nothing. Every branch of the railroad business is feeling the strain. A Chicago bank in which we have funds has refused to cash our check given to an Iowa coal man in settlement of our account.

"Under the Iowa State law the coal operator is compelled to pay off his miners in cash. He tells us that he will have to close his mine unless he can get money for the check. The railroads cannot get money from the banks to meet a crisis of this kind.

"Before the Clearing House rule went into effect we received large shipments of currency from our agents. We would not accept checks in settlement of their accounts. They would accept the merchant's check in payment of freight bills, cash it at local banks, and remit the money to us. This kept a constant stream of currency flowing into St. Louis.

"Now the railroad agents cannot get money from local banks, and are compelled to send us St. Louis exchange.

"Banks are refusing to advance money on bills of lading, and are refusing to pay out money on railroad checks, which tightens up matters so that it becomes a very difficult matter to operate railroads.

Owes for the Mails.

"The Government isn't doing what we would like to have it do to help out. Uncle Sam owes us $225,000 for carrying the mails. The money has been due since Oct. 1.

"These Government warrants are made payable in Washington, but we can arrange some way to get currency for them. If the Government would pay up it would get a great deal of money into circulation. The refusal of the Government to accept checks in payment for any obligation has tended to tighten the money situation.

"As cash is now demanded for every bill this draws money out of circulation and ties it up in the subtreasury. The Government has not given the banks or the business men out here any aid, and by tightening up the strings and keeping idle $30,000,000 of currency it is making matters worse all the time."

Real estate men and brokers say that people who have money to invest are waiting for "bargains."

Rent, grocery bills, butchers' bills, in fact almost every obligation of even minor importance are being paid in checks, while people who have currency are keeping it in their own possession. One woman paid her rent bill in eight checks, which aggregated a total of $30. Real estate firms readily accept checks, which are in turn deposited in the banks.

Some St. Louis business houses are refusing to accept the small denomination cashiers' checks issued by three St. Louis banks for the reason that the banks are now requiring persons who bring them in for deposit to endorse them. Business men say that this rule compels the last man who accepts the checks to guarrantee the banks' own paper.

St. Louis real estate men say they have plenty of money to loan on good real estate security, or to invest in first class deeds of trust. One real estate dealer says he has $37,500 which he has been trying for more than a week to loan at 6 per cent interest, with no takers. Other real estate men say that they are getting in large quantities of currency and certified checks to loan on real estate security.

Cornelius Butts, of the Lincoln Trust building, said to a Post-Dispatch reporter:

"I have $37,500 which I have been trying to loan on real estate security, or invest in good deeds of trust. I have been up and down Chestnut street looking for people who are willing to pay six per cent for money, but I cannot find them. I have looked over all of the six per cent deeds of trust, but I failed to find any which I would offer to my client.

"I would let the money out on real estate at 50 per cent of its value. There is no scarcity of money among real estate dealers, and I don't look for any decline in values on account of the financial stringency."

Another real estate agent said that persons who had withdrawn their money from the banks were trying to loan it on real estate. Although some of the banks are getting 7 per cent for money, the real estate men say they are loaning out money in sums of less than $10,000 at 5 and 6 per cent. The real estate men are not anxious to make loans of larger amounts, especially to corporations and industrial institutions which might be affected by the financial conditions.

Catarrh of the Stomach

A Most Dangerous Disease, Which Causes Serious Results, Unless Properly Treated.

Catarrh of the Stomach is very common and is known as one of the most obstinate diseases, which, when neglected or improperly treated with cheap patent medicines, tonics, drugs, pills and other secret quack remedies results in a broken down constitution and often consumption and death.

Catarrh of the Stomach, like every other disease of the stomach, except cancer, is the result of poor digestion. The digestive organs have become weak, there is a lack of gastric juice, your food is only half digested, and as a result you become affected with loss of appetite, pressure and fullness after eating, heartburn, vomiting, waterbrash, tenderness at pit of stomach, slimy tongue, bad taste in the mouth, constipation, pain in limbs and face, sleeplessness, nausea, belching of gas, diarrhoea, sick headache, dizziness, mental depression, nervous weakness, and many other common symptoms.

If your stomach cannot digest the food you eat, then the stomach needs a rest, as that is the only way you can get rid of your catarrh, but in the meantime your body needs plenty of nourishment, because you must live, and in order to live you must eat, and if you must eat, your food must be properly digested, and if your stomach is too weak to do the work, then you must get a substitute to do the work.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the only known substitute that will digest your food as well as any healthy stomach. They contain vegetable and fruit essences, aseptic pepsin (government test), golden seal and diastase, the very elements necessary to digest all foods.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not a secret remedy, and for that reason thousands of physicians all over the United States recommend them to their patients for catarrh of the stomach, dyspepsia of all kinds, and other stomach troubles. Experiments and tests have proven that one grain of the active principle contained in these tablets will digest 3000 grains of food.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are in the form of pleasant-tasting tablets or lozenges and are sold in large fifty-cent boxes at all drug stores.

Send us your name and address and we will send you a free sample package. The relief you will get from this trial package alone will convince you of the merits of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

NEW SCHOOL TO COST $700,000

Price of Structure Shaved Since the First Plans.

The new high school, to be built on the east side of Union boulevard, between Kensington and Fairmount avenues, is to cost $700,000. The Building Committee of the Board of Education approved of the plans of William B. Ittner, Commissioner of School Buildings.

The plans for the new building have been modified from the original made by Mr. Ittner a year ago. The cost was then estimated at $800,000. Several members objected to this amount and one said that a new high school was not needed. The new building will make the fourth high school in the city.

Lorenzo Waite, a Prominent Physician of Pittsfield, Mass., Who Is a Graduate of Berkshire College, Says That He Has Used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as a Tonic Stimulant With Satisfactory Results.

In years past I have used your Pure Malt Whiskey in my practice with very satisfactory results. Recently I had occasion to administer Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as per directions to an anaemic patient of mine, and I anticipate remarkably good results. With many thanks for your introducing a pure tonic stimulant for the benefit of the public and practitioners of medicine, I am, Lorenzo Waite, M. D., Aug. 20th, 1907.

The doctor's letter is one taken at random from thousands of similar ones received extolling the virtues of this great family medicine.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

is an absolutely pure distillation of malted grain; great care being used to have every kernel thoroughly malted, thus destroying the germ and producing a predigested liquid food in the form of a malt essence, which is the most effective tonic stimulant and invigorator known to science; softened by warmth and moisture, its palatability and freedom from injurious substances renders it so that it can be retained by the most sensitive stomach.

It is an absolutely pure, gentle and invigorating stimulant and tonic, builds up the nerve tissues, tones up the heart, gives power to the brain, strength and elasticity to the muscles and richness to the blood. It brings into action all the vital forces, it makes digestion perfect, and enables you to get from the food you eat the nourishment it contains. It is invaluable for overworked men, delicate women and sickly children. It strengthens and sustains the system, is a promoter of health and longevity, makes the old young and keeps the young strong.

CAUTION.—When you ask your druggist, grocer or dealer for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey be sure you get the genuine. It's the only absolutely pure medicinal malt whiskey and is sold only in sealed bottles—never in bulk. Look for the trade-mark, the "Old Chemist," on the label, and make sure the seal over the cork is unbroken. Price, $1.00. Illustrated medical booklet and doctor's advice free. NEW FIGHT ON RAILROADS IN THE WEST END Improvement Association Adopts Resolutions Demanding Action.

TO BE SENT TO MAYOR

President O'Reilly of the Board of Public Works Censured.

To force the Board of Public Improvements to bring in an ordinance doing away with surface railroad tracks and grade crossings in the fashionable West End section of St. Louis, a determined movement has been launched and will be taken up by every business men's organization in the city.

Resolutions calling for immediate presentation to the Municipal Assembly of an ordinance requiring the depression of the Wabash and Rock Island tracks in the West End were adopted by the Twenty-seventh Ward Improvement Association Tuesday evening.

It was stated in the resolution that such an ordinance was drawn up and placed in the hands of President O'Reilly of the Board of Public Improvements "more than two years ago," but that no action of any kind has been taken by O'Reilly, although any such ordinance must go through his hands to the Municipal Assembly.

The resolutions demand that this ordinance be introduced at once, with or without a recommendation, or that O'Reilly explain why it is not done.

Subject to Be Discussed.

Wednesday evening a copy of the resolutions will be discussed at a meeting of the North St. Louis Business Men's Association and, as quickly as possible, the matter will be laid before every business men's and commercial organization in the city. The authors of the resolutions expect unanimous indorsement of the movement.

The Wabash tracks run through Forest Park and out of the city in a northwesterly direction. The Rock Island tracks run out of the city, just north of Forest Park, in a westerly direction.

The resolutions declare that a tract of land bounded by Union avenue, Forest Park, Skinker road and Delmar avenue lies undeveloped because of those tracks and that the progress of that section of the city is being retarded by the "dormancy" of the ordinance in the hands of O'Reilly.

Resolutions Are Specific.

The resolutions read:

Whereas, A large tract of vacant land, bounded east by Union boulevard, north by Delmar boulevard, south by Forest Park and west by Skinker road, lies practically unimproved, and

Whereas, Said tract is in the immediate path of the future development of the city of St. Louis and is traversed by certain surface steam railroads running diagonally across and through the same and in addition a large portion thereof is now being used for switch yards, thereby menacing and absolutely prohibiting the development of said section into a residence district and threatening its conversion into a switch yard and factory district, where instead there should be the most beautiful residence district of our city; and,

Whereas, The time has come when speedy and effective action must be taken to avert and prevent said evil; and,

Whereas, The depression of said railroad tracks would remove said evil and permit the use of said tract as a residence district, adding greatly to the future welfare of our city; and,

Whereas, An ordinance providing for the depression of said tracks along their present right-of-way has been prepared and has been in the hands of the president of our Board of Public Improvements, without any action upon his part whatever for more than two years, and,

Whereas, Said ordinance is still lying dormant in his hands, and,

Whereas, Action upon his part is required by law in order that the City Council and House of Delegates may have opportunity to act thereon:

Now, therefore, Be it resolved, That this body do urge and request the President of said board, Hon. Andrew J. O'Reilly, to submit said ordinance, with or without any recommendation, as he may see fit, to our City Council and House of Delegates without delay that action thereon may be taken to remedy said evil and permit said tract of land to be used for residence purposes, and depress said railroad tracks, thereby removing the nuisance and permitting the development of our city; or advise us why such ordinance should not be submitted.

And be it further resolved, that this resolution be spread upon the records of this meeting and a copy thereof sent to Hon. Rolla Wells, Mayor of the city, and to Hon. Andrew J. O'Reilly, President of said board.

The members of the West End Improvement Association assert that the ordinance will have to be presented to the Municipal Assembly forthwith or the business men of St Louis will have to be reckoned with. No further delay, they say, will be submitted to.

FATALLY SCALDED IN BOILER ROOM FILLED WITH STEAM

Felix Pelequin Not So Fortunate as Comrades, Who All Escaped.

One man is dead and a second probably fatally burned and scalded, as the result of the bursting of a steam pipe in the Cupples Building, Eighth and Gratiot streets.

Felix Pelequin, 30 years old, a coal passer, residing at Siler's Hotel, Broadway and Cass avenue, died from burns and internal scalds at the City Hospital Tuesday night, and Theodore Fechteman, 35 years old of 4527 Kennerly avenue, is at the Washington University Hospital. His recovery is doubtful. Several other workmen narrowly escaped severe burns.

The men, stripped to the waist, were working in the boiler room when there came a loud report and the room was filled with a blinding, scalding cloud of steam and water. Fighting their way across the room through the cloud of steam, the men staggered out, dragging Pelequin, who was unconscious, with them.

STABBED MAN WALKS 2 BLOCKS

With stab wounds penetrating the lung and spleen, Steve Ploma walked two blocks to the home of his brother, Joseph, at 1435 North Seventh street, and fell from exhaustion.

Ploma was removed to the City Hospital. The physicians say his wounds may prove fatal. He became involved in a fight in a saloon at Seventh and O'Fallon streets Tuesday night, and during the mix-up received the stab wounds.

STREET CAR HITS FIRE ENGINE

Two Accidents During Responses to One Alarm.

Too accidents occurred while engine companies were responding to a small fire at 1131 South Twelfth street, early Wednesday.

Engine No. 45, crossing Hickory street at Eleventh street, was struck by a Tower Grove car and knocked against a lamp post. Driver Charles Hartweg jumped and escaped injury. The steamer was damaged $200.

About the same time the axle of No. 7 company's reel broke at Fourteenth and Hickory street, tumbling the firemen into the street.

WHITENS THE SKIN.

The formula given below will be found wonderfully effective for whitening the skin, even that of the darkest complexion. This mixture, while being absolutely harmless, has a peculiar chemical action on the surface of the skin, bleaching the cuticle and imparting that creamy softness which is so desirable.

The formula was given out by a noted dermatologist and is as follows:

Two ounces of Rose Water; one ounce Spirits of Cologne; four ounces crystalized Sartoin. Put the Sartoin in a pint of warm water, then add the Rose Water and Cologne Spirits, and after dissolved and cooled, strain through a fine cloth. These ingredients are obtainable from any well stocked druggist.

This will make a supply sufficient for a month's treatment, although the beneficial results are usually apparent after the first few applications. This should be used daily and rubbed well into the skin of the face, bust and arms. It produces a glowing sensation and the use of powders or rouge are entirely unnecessary.

RUNAWAY WIFE, REPENTANT, CANNOT FIND HER HUSBAND

Mrs. Grace Halpin Went Part Way to Father and Then Came Back.

After having left her husband and traveled from St. Louis to Monett, Mo., on her way to her father's home, in Shawnee, O. T., Mrs. Grace Halpin, 19 years old, regretted her action and returned to ask her husband's forgiveness only to find that he had left their former boarding place, at 1410 Pine street. She has asked the police to help her find him.

World's Biggest Brewery.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 6.—Improvements contemplated, and in progress, it is claimed, will establish the Joseph Schlitz Brewing Co.'s plant as the largest in the world. Monster new buildings now under way, including big brew house, immense reserve malt bins and enlarged bottling facilities, and the installation of powerful electric engines, form part of the improvements that will increase the present capacity of the plant from two million to three and one-half million barrels per year. The necessity for such notable additions to the company's already monster plant, is due entirely to the excellence of Schlitz Beer, demand for which, from all quarters of the globe, is increasing with remarkable rapidity.

IT DON'T COST MUCH TO MAKE

Says Anyone Can Easily Prepare It, and Knows Nothing Better to Take.

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. Every man, woman and child here should dress as warmly as possible, and, above all else, keep the feet dry. Avoid colds and exposure, and don't become constipated.

Rheumatism is strictly a blood disease, caused by inactive kidneys, which, through cold or exposure or improper diet, fail in their duty of filtering the rheumatic poisons from the blood. This poisonous waste matter, uric acid, oxilate of lime, urea, etc., if not strained from the blood promptly, decomposes and settles about the joints and muscles, causing rheumatic disease.

In damp or chilly, cold weather the kidneys are made to do double work. The pores of the skin all over the body do not assist in eliminating the poisons of the body, throwing this work to the kidneys, which become clogged and feeble, thus causing not only rheumatism, but all forms of kidney troubles, backache, weak bladder and urinary troubles, and sometimes terrible blood disorders.

At the first sign of any of these troubles the following simple prescription should be mixed and taken in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Any good pharmacy can supply these ingredients, and all the mixing required is to shake well in a bottle.

Worlds of Benefit

Fish Creek, Wis., Jan. 27, 1907.

I will gladly tell you, as near as I can, what Cardui has done for me. I suffered from womanly ills for years. Every year it was worse. No one knows what I suffered. Lots of times I had to stay in bed and have a doctor, but instead of getting better I got worse. At last I chanced to see one of your ads and decided to take Cardui. After the third bottle I knew it was doing wonders. Well, I kept right on, till I had taken seven bottles and now I can truly say that I am cured. I can do a big wash the first day as well as the last. I can never say too much for Cardui. I tell everyone about it and have begged a neighbor girl to try it, as I know it will help her. I received worlds of benefit from Cardui, and will always praise it.

"I Could Hardly Work"

Lavergne, Tenn., May 27, 1907.

I suffered for some time with womanly trouble, and all summer my health was very bad. I could hardly do my work. At fruit-canning time I was taken very sick, as a result of overwork during the hot weather, and my husband called a physician. He left some medicine, which I took without the least benefit. I suffered so much and grew so weak, that I became alarmed and told my husband he must get me some Cardui. I obtained relief almost from the first dose, and before I had taken half a bottle I was doing my work again. I am still taking Cardui, as I believe that it strengthens me and is good for my baby. I am always telling my friends what a friend Cardui has been to me. I think it is the best medicine made, for women.

COACHING IDEAS OFTEN LUDICROUS

Cochems Writes of Curious Mental Freaks Evolved by Handlers of Football Teams to Attain Results.

BY E. B. COCHEMS
(St. Louis University Football Coach.)

E.B. COCHEMS.

The old regime football was so stereotyped and fixed, both in defense and offense, that coaches were forced to all manner of schemes and devices to develop certain qualifications in the player. Even today antiquated methods are still in vogue and constitute the minor essentials of the coaches' stock in trade.

Some of these artificial and mechanical aids to football development have a grain of merit, but most of them present a truly humorous aspect.

Looking upon them from the viewpoint of the new era they appear ludicrous in the extreme and cannot help but excite one's risibles.

As baseball still offers a fertile field for consideration and scientific exploitation, so football was in the olden day, and even now has scarcely had its surface scratched.

Diet the First Fad.

When the game first started the question of diet for the players was extremely important, as it was primarily a game of physical endurance. Being a rough and robust sport, and demanding nerve, many coaches resorted to a heavy meat diet. The meat was usually raw, with blood oozing from it, in order, as they supposed, to give the candidates a ferocious and fighting disposition. Such a diet was invariably followed by skin eruptions and poor physical condition and was finally abandoned.

Now we have coaches who are serving their men with a vegetable offering. This also is extreme. A good training table should present a bright, airy appearance and be made up of a meat and vegetable diet of the ordinary kind that one finds at the students' boarding house table.

Some coaches should have been vaudeville managers. At Drake University, Iowa, some years ago a strong man made his appearance in the football squad. He weighed 270 pounds, and had been doing strong-man stunts throughout the State.

Goliath Meets Downfall

Just before each game, while the opposing team was warming up, the Drake men would bring forth this Goliath. They strapped a heavy board across his back and all the team would get on. Then he paraded before the opponents to instil fear of his tremendous powers into their quaking hearts. However, he met a David in one of the opposing teams and he was vanquished.

At Beloit College nine years ago they had a famous pitcher who won most of their games. He weighed more than 200 pounds and would make a good addition to their football strength. Nevertheless he couldn't be induced to play for fear of injuring that famous right wing. Many were the schemes broached to protect that arm, but none were satisfactory.

Finally an Edison appeared from the Faculty, with long hair and acute mind, who suggested an immense plaster cast to completely cover and protect the arm. This suggestion met with instant favor and the hero appeared against Wisconsin, armed cap-a-pie. For a moment he had the valiant Badgers completely nonplussed, but a whispered conference shortly followed; a concerted attack on the famous pitcher, a white mist of plaster of Paris and he was adjudged hors de combat and carried from the field.

In order to develop great speed one coach employed a treadmill, geared to break-neck pace. All the men were forced to work on this novel machine for a month.

Many are the football mentors who tried to obtain speed in the team through the end of a barrel stave, lustily applied.

Fumbling has ever been a bugbear to coaches. Down South I knew a coach who compelled every man who made a fumble to take a ball and bounce it against a fence one hundred times and catch it successfully. This was a sure producer of results.

Running low with the ball, so the knees practically touched the chin, in order to afford the most meager opportunity for a tackler, was one of the most important drills on offense. To accomplish this supposedly high attainment the coaches used to place a heavy board, supported at either end, about three feet above the ground. Placing the players in a row they would compel them to run full tilt at it and then duck underneath. Should a player come in contact he was a disabled man for the remainder of the season.

Hurdling was an essential of all good back-field work. Bags of sand or straw or sawdust were piled on the field and the men commanded to jump over them. Ropes were often attached to the bags and just as the player would hurdle they would be removed and the man taught to hold his feet. These bags also were often thrown unexpectedly in front of the runner, and unless he jumped he was sure to receive a mighty fall.

Out West one coach employed one man to do nothing but bend over on his hands and feet and let the backs run at him and hurdle, making a somersault on the other side. When it is considered that the field was hard shale one can realize what a strenuous existence the men of old lived.

Walter McCornack of Dartmouth, while coaching at Northwestern University, devised a scheme whereby he hoped to teach his backs how to find openings in the opponent's line. He had two long ropes with a canvas sheet 3 feet wide. At different intervals he had holes made in the canvas big enough to allow the head and shoulders to protrude.

Stationing a man at either end and lining up his players he would make them charge at these shifting holes. McCornack also devised a pushing machine that has much merit.

Tackling is another feature of football that receives much attention. In this department the true ingenuity of a coach's powers were measured. Tackling is the most important essential of defense and to perfect it many devices were made use of. One coach in Colorado hung up a bag filled with rocks and told his men to tackle fiercely. The bruises the players received in this exercise were supposed to result in a hardening and toughening of the muscles and tendons.

Another coach in Southern California had an expensive wooden dummy made that had movable arms and legs. These limbs were placed in many different poses supposed to represent the man with the ball. For instance, one leg would be forward and the other straight, representing the player attempting to knee the tackler, and the arm would be placed in the most approved stiff-arm fashion. The tackler had to run against this while it was swinging and bring it to the earth.

"Big" Maxwell, who was at Chicago University a few years ago, was afflicted with a Milwaukee aldermanic front, and in order to remove this superfluous adipose it is said he was compelled to turn somersaults from one end of the field to the other.

In order to perfect a strong and impenetrable interference, George Woodruff, when at Pennsylvania, placed straps on the men's union suits. This device had much merit and was the most dangerous interference originated up to that time. The rules abolished this method soon afterwards.

Medieval Armor Used.

The armoring of players was a vital consideration on the part of the football management. I have seen a player so heavily armored that he looked like a rubbered rhinoceros, and when he fell it took two men to place him on his feet again. Even today players are too heavily armored and padded. When you see a player appear on the field with a big, black headgear, a rubber noseguard that covers to his ears and has flaps that remind you of a dustpan ear of one of Barnum's elephants, shinguards and a much-padded suit, you are sure that player has some respect for his person.

Often a player is sent into a game when he doesn't know the signals or fully understand the purpose and significance of the play. I once heard a true story of a freshman giant at Brown University by the name of McGinnity that aptly illustrates this point.

While playing guard in practice he would continually hit the man directly in front of him, although the signal called for him to hit the other player with his shoulder.

The coach would each time call the signal distinctly and clearly and then each time be compelled to reprimand the big Irishman for not doing as the signal called for.

Finally, the coach told McGinnity that if he didn't do as the signal required he would fire him from the squad. Therefore the big fellow rose straight up from the line and said: "To hell wid yer mysterious signals; show me me man."

RHEUMATISM CAN NOT BE RUBBED AWAY

Rubbing with liniments, blistering the affected parts, the application of plasters, and other means of external treatment, are usually helpful in relieving the pains and aches of Rheumatism, but such remedies do not reach the CAUSE of the disease, and are therefore in no sense curative. Rheumatism is due to an excess of uric acid in the blood, brought about by indigestion, poor bowel action, weak kidneys, and a general sluggish condition of the system. The circulation deposits this irritating poison in the different muscles, nerves, tissues and joints of the body, and soon the painful symptoms of Rheumatism are produced. The pains at first may be wandering and slight; but as the blood becomes more fully saturated with the uric acid poison, the disease grows worse and after awhile gets to be chronic. The slight, wandering pains now become sharp and cutting at the least exposure to dampness or night air, or any constitutional irregularity, the bones ache, the muscles are not as free in action as before, and where the acid poison is allowed to remain in the blood the joints often become so clogged with corrosive substances that they are left permanently stiff and useless. Rheumatism can never be rubbed away, nor can it be conquered and driven from the system until the acid-laden blood has been cleansed and purified. No other medicine does this so effectually as S. S. S. It dissolves and removes the impurities and sends a stream of rich, strong blood to the affected parts, which soothes the irritated nerves, inflamed muscles and flesh, and the sufferer obtains relief that is permanent. STARS OF THE MISSOURI MINES AND WABASH ELEVENS WHICH PLAY WASHINGTON AND ST. LOUIS, RESPECTIVELY

WABASH DUE TO GET BAD BEATING

At Least St. Louis University Hopes to Run Up Big Score on Indiana Eleven.

St. Louis University will make an attempt to run up a very large score on Wabash Saturday when the teams meet on the gridiron at Sportsman's Park. The local men, are pretty "sore" at the Indiana team, charging that Manager Eller acted in an unsportsman like way in arranging the game and that he has "knocked" the Cochems tribe, calling them professionals and other uncomplimentary things.

Eckersall has consented to referee the game Saturday and Capt. Kroemer of West Point will umpire, with Jameson of Purdue head linesman.

Though Acker was out of the work and Brennan present with an injured shoulder, St. Louis U. went through a fairly good signal practice Tuesday, and today Cochems expects his full squad out and a stiff, hard practice to be the program for the afternoon. Wabash, as told exclusively in the Tuesday Post-Dispatch, will use freshmen in their game here and Cochems will be able to reciprocate, which may mean the presence of Hill and Sullivan in the Blue and White line Saturday.

Things in the Stadium Tuesday were dead and Blanchard put his small squad through a very light workout. Wednesday scrimmage is promised and every effort will be made to have the team in good shape for the Rolla game. Capt. Castlen may be saved for Missouri and Bobby Ailsworth be put in at quarter against the Miners.

The McKinley-Smith game Saturday is attracting a great deal of interest in interscholastic circles and if Smith should defeat the South Side school, there is a remote possibility that McKinley may surrender the Thanksgiving date with Central to the Red and White team. But Prof. Morrison, principal of McKinley, does not take kindly to the idea and in all probability McKinley and Central will battle Turkey day morning.

A special train load of rooters will accompany Central on its invasion of Alton Saturday when it meets Western in one of the most important games of the league this fall. Both teams are tied for first place and the contest for the premier position will certainly be a splendid battle. Central is the favorite.

QUALEY'S WORK SAVES IDEALS

As the result of 3-0 victories Tuesday night the Ideals and Witter-Christen teams remain tied for the lead in the City Tenpin League with 18 games won and but six lost. On the Metropolitan alleys the Witter-Christens gave a fine exhibition, averaging 947 1-3. The Ideals have George Qualey to thank for their victory over the Marlins by pulling the first game out of the fire by a double, followed by eight pins on his last ball in the last frame of the first game.

Both matches were exciting. Last week the Cabannes took three games from the Ideals, dropping them back to a tie with the Witter-Christens and placing the Cabannes third. The Ideals bowled on the Grand alleys Tuesday night and the telephone kept "Chuck" Marlin at the Metropolitan alleys on the jump informing the Ideals how the contests were breaking for the W. C.s.

The Witter-Christens won the opening game rather handily. In the second the Cabannes braced and secured 974, but the W. C.s were not to be denied and nosed their opponents out by three pins. The final game was close for a time. Then Frank Witter and Schlenk got their eye on the head pin and commenced to mow them down. Both men got 224 in the final essay. The W. C.s hammered 1026 pins in the final game.

On the Grand alleys George Qualey was bowling for the first time this season with the Ideals, though Qualey is managing the team. It was pretty lucky for Capt. Vandewater that Qualey was in the game. In the first the Ideals did not get going in their right speed while the Marlins were fairly shooting their heads off. Qualey was anchor man for the Ideals and when he went in the final frame of the first game the Ideals were some twenty odd pins to the bad. All that would pull the Ideals out was a double strike.

It did look bad for the Ideals as a victory in the first meant confidence for the Marlins, a loss of the lead in the league for the Ideals, and a possible defeat in the match. Qualey got the first strike on a pretty hit. Qualey admits that his knees wobbled a bit when he went up for the second but managed to slam them all down again and was given an ovation. Still that was not enough. On his third ball he needed 4 pins to tie. Qualey secured 8 for good measure which gave the game to the Ideals by 4 pins.

SUTTON EASILY BEATS SCHAEFER

Retains 18.2 Balkline Honors at Chicago by Score of 500 to 241.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—George Sutton Tuesday night successfully defended his title as champion 18.2 billiard player by defeating Jacob Schaefer, the score being 500 to 241.

It took Sutton 15 innings to run the game out, his average being 33 5-16 and his high run 232. Sutton took the lead in the first inning, when he made a run of 12, and Schaefer never was able to overtake him. The champion played a steady game from the start, his touch and stroke being almost perfect.

In his ninth trial Sutton collected 232 billiards, most of them being made in the center of the table, where his delicate touch was displayed in a remarkable manner.

In the fifth Schaefer made his high run of 93, and it looked as though he would overtake the champion. In order to get the balls in better position on his ninety-fourth shot, he chose a difficult one-cushion shot instead of an easy draw, and missed it. After that he was not able to do anything until the twelfth inning, when he rolled up a score of 90.

Out of 15 times up, Schaefer made six goose eggs, while Sutton failed to score in only one inning. The score:

Sutton—12 27 30 71 13 13 8 1 232 26 55 6 3 0 3—500. High run, 232; average, 33 5-16.
Schaefer—0 7 0 0 93 1 0 0 14 0 21 90 0 1 0 [illegible]

BROWNS MAKE A STRONG EXCHANGE

McAleer Trades Niles, Glade and Hemphill to Griffith for Ferris, Williams and Danny Hoffman.

LOOKS LIKE A GOOD SWAP.

NEW BROWNS.		GRIFFITH GETS
WILLIAMS, HOFFMAN, FERRIS	in Exchange for	NILES, HEMPHILL, GLADE

"I think I have made three of the best baseball trades I ever made in my life," said James McAleer, manager of the Browns, over the long distance telephone to the Post-Dispatch this morning from his home in Youngstown, Ohio. "This, together with my pal being elected Mayor of Youngstown yesterday, makes me feel pretty good.

"The trade looks very sweet to me. When I found out that I could get Jimmy Williams, Danny Hoffman and Hobe Ferris for Niles, Hemphill and Glade, I didn't lose any time in putting it through. I wanted to get Elberfield, but couldn't make connections for him as Griffith means to keep him this year.

"I have no other trades in sight now. I think the Browns for next season will stand just the way they are with these three new men, and I don't believe there will be any thing more doing. There is one other place I want to fix up but I don't believe there is a man to be had who would be an improvement on the one I already have playing the position.

"I hope the St. Louis fans will like the trade. I know a lot of them will be sorry to see Niles go, but take it from me Williams will strengthen the team.

Following close upon the heels of the meeting of the directors of the St. Louis Browns, where it was insisted that the ball team must be strengthened for next year if the patronage is to be retained, Manager McAleer Tuesday night wired that he had traded Niles, Glade and Hemphill for Hoffman and Williams of New York and "Hobe" Ferris of Boston.

While the trade is a splendid one for the Browns it is likely to prove just as good a one for the other teams. Glade, unless he decides not to play ball next season, is likely to prove even a better man than he did here. With the Browns he has been the leading box artist for four out of five years.

POST-DISPATCH SELLER WHO HAS BIG SALES

HARRY BURLEIGH

HUSTLING NEWS MERCHANT MAKES $25 EVERY WEEK

Harry Burleigh, Aged 19, Sells Post-Dispatch at Jefferson and Park Daily.

When Mayor Wells said that he would rather have his son sell papers on the street than take a political job, he may or may not have known that there is good money in selling papers, if the seller is a hustler.

Harry Burleigh, 19 years old, is one of the prosperous news merchants of St. Louis, and has proven that there is no better business than paper selling for a wideawake youth of his age.

While others of his age and acquaintance are working for $8 to $12 a week, Harry is holding down the corner of Jefferson and Park avenues morning, evening and Sunday mornings, with a paper business which makes him, on an average, $25 a week.

Harry's average is 800 papers a day on weekdays, and 400 on Sundays. His sales of the Post-Dispatch make up a very large part of these totals. He has been in business for himself five years.

There is room for more hustlers like Harry Burleigh in the newspaper selling business, and any youth who is energetic can do what he has done.

DIED BEFORE BIRTHDAY PARTY

Aged Woman Succumbed While Guests Were Assembling.

When friends and relatives arrived at the home of Mrs. Margaret Schuler at 455 North Tenth street, East St. Louis, Tuesday evening, carrying gifts and good things to be used in the celebration of the seventy-fourth birthday, they found the blinds drawn and crepe on the door.

Mrs. Schuler had died of heart disease an hour before the time set for her serving of the birthday supper. She lived with her son-in-law, Henry Hussmann. She was the mother of Joseph Schuler, a well-known Republican politician of St. Louis.

"Know Their Little Book"

Enterprise of Cosmopolitan Magazine Makes Possible the Possession of Great Reference Work of Which St. Louisans Take Advantage.

To "know one's book" means a lot of things which may be summarized into being well posted on what is going on as far as it affects one's self or the welfare of those in whom one may be interested.

Just now St. Louis people seem to "know their book" to the letter, for they are quickly taking advantage of a wholly unusual literary and educational opportunity made possible through the enterprise of the Cosmopolitan Magazine.

The magazine, which has been a leader for many years, lately decided to make a determined stride forward and place itself, by a single national effort, still further in advance of most other periodicals.

Its ambition was high, for it set to itself the task of quickly adding 50,000 high-class subscribers to its list, preferably from the larger cities.

This was by no means easy, and Cosmopolitan found that to accomplish its purpose it must offer people something supremely good, something which may have been heretofore beyond their reach because of the high price, but so figured down as to make that price within the reach of all.

Cosmopolitan, therefore, did not waste time on minor propositions, which any other periodical could manage, but went to the top and got what it went after by securing the exclusive control of all the 1907 edition of the great "Century Dictionary and Cyclopedia and Atlas."

This superb work had always been held at a high subscription figure, averaging $90 a set for the 10 volumes, and something like 100,000 sets have been sold country-wide at this price, which indeed was necessary because of the initial cost of producing the work.

But Cosmopolitan said: "We'll have the Century Co. prepare the 'largest edition ever,' and that will greatly reduce the cost of individual sets; then we'll cut out absolutely those big commissions which have always been paid to the book agents who went around selling the work; then we'll forego all profit; Cosmopolitan, merely contenting ourselves with added subscriptions—which means much; and so, with other economies, we'll cut the price in half. We'll do better; we'll make it about one-third; instead of $90 we'll make it, let us say, $33.50 for the latest, best and only edition of "The Century," and we'll include a year's subscription to Cosmopolitan Magazine. There's a bargain any one who 'knows his book' can see at a glance.

And that's just what Cosmopolitan did. It involved a lot of money, much more than most people would believe—but the magazine got the price down to bed-rock, and the first public announcement brought thousands of requests for the "Century" sets, making a big hole in the edition.

CITY OFFICIALS PLAN JUNKET

Improvement Board to View Public Works of Other Cities.

The Board of Public Improvements, consisting of President A. J. O'Reilly and the street, sewer, park and harbor and wharf commissioners, will leave St. Louis Friday for a week's junketing trip to Kansas City, Chicago and Detroit. The board announces as reason for this trip a desire to see the public works of other cities and gain valuable information that may be utilized when the improvements authorized to be made through the bond issue are begun here.

For the Woman That's Fat

A Detroit physician says that the cheapest and safest mixture a fat woman who wants to get thin can use is one-half ounce Marmola (get it in the original half-ounce package), one-half ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and three and one-half ounces Syrup Simplex. The proper amount to take is a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime.

These ingredients may be obtained from any druggist at small cost and make a combination that is not only excellent as a fat reducer, being able, it is claimed, to take off a pound a day without causing wrinkles, but is also a splendid help to the system as a whole, regulating the stomach and bowels (where the fat person's troubles begin), and clearing the skin of pimples and blotches. No exercise is required to help the remedy in its work, and, best of all, no dieting is necessary while taking it—you can eat what you like.—(adv.)

PLUMBER SUED FOR $20,000 BY HUSBAND OF DANCING MATE

Oscar F. Wagenmann Says He Can Not Understand Why He Is Accused by S. N. Falder.

Oscar F. Wagenmann, a plumber at 814 North Jefferson avenue, says he can't understand why Simon N. Falder of East St. Louis filed suit against him for $20,000, alleging that he alienated the affection of Mrs. Falder.

"There's nothing to it," said he Wednesday. "I know Mrs. Falder, but I didn't have anything to with her leaving her husband. I met her about six years ago, when she was Miss Augusta Spriesterbach. I used to go to dances with her.

"She married Falder seven months ago. Since she left her husband in September I have met her twice by accident. I never advised her as to her domestic affairs."

Falder is proprietor of a business college in East St. Louis. Before his marriage he boarded at 2828 Washington avenue. His petition alleges that his wife's affections were alienated Sept. 11 last.

VALUABLE PRESCRIPTION FOR CHRONIC HEADACHE.

The following formula is given out by an eastern physician with a large practice among the nation's aristocracy. Coming from such high authority, the formula is most reliable and is said to be remarkably effective.

He says: The majority of headaches are the result of imperfect digestion and sluggish bowel action, which causes food fermentation in the stomach and retention of certain poisons which are absorbed into the blood and thus affect the nervous system. To relieve this condition and permanently cure it, use the following formula:

"Two ounces Essence of Pepsin; three ounces Syrup of Ginger; one ounce Catandir Compound; mix them well and take in doses of from one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal; also at bed time for the first few days."

These ingredients are obtainable from any good prescription druggist, and easily mixed.

If the digestive organs are not working properly the system is constantly in danger of attacks from more serious maladies.

EDITOR SEES THE HOMELIEST GIRLS ON EARTH IN ST. LOUIS

Clifford Greve Knows Because He Has Been in the City Five Years.

JUST TOOK ONE LOOK

Went Out on King's Highway and Was Shocked By Feminine Plainness.

CLIFFORD GREVE

ST. LOUIS HAS PRIZE HOMELY GIRLS, HE SAYS

FAR and wide St. Louis is known as having the ugliest women in the universe. God seems to be against us when it comes to making a crop of beauties. St. Louis women can be compared only to cattle and "sorry" bovines at that, for they are of the type found out in the short-grass country in a very dry season, which look most like a bundle of barbed wire with a tawny hide stretched over it so tightly that the points stick out. Oh! Saint Louis, our patron saint, deliver us from this overabundance of stringy, lean "canners." But even a very homely female can get herself up. Lo! here they dress less and in the worst taste exhibited anywhere on the American continent. But fashion has gotten around to us and for a time St. Louis will be just it with the best collection of the hipless in the world.—Clifford Geve, Editor of Humanity.

Are the women of St. Louis the "ugliest in the universe?"

Do they look like the worst and scrawniest grade of cattle that comes to the livestock markets?

Clifford Greve says so, and he thinks he ought to know. He has been in St. Louis five years and he is 28 years old. He came here from Cincinnati, where, he says, he had the entre to the best houses, but as he expresses it, he "hasn't mixed in St. Louis society much."

Feeling "real put out" because he failed to sight even one woman who came up to his standard of feminine beauty, on a Sunday afternoon stroll along King's highway, he wrote the burning words in which he assails the womanhood of St. Louis.

Takes Pen in Hand.

They appeared in the November issue of the magazine "Humanity," of which Greve is editor.

"I may have put it a little strong," he said to a Post-Dispatch reporter, "but the reading public demands virile writing."

The dictionary definition of virile is: "Manly, heroic; sometimes used in the sense of chivalrous."

Greve says that chivalry is all right, but he doesn't expect women to read his magazine.

"If they don't read it, you see, they can't be offended by what I write," he said to a Post-Dispatch reporter at his office at 6 South Eighteenth street, where he transacts a double-barreled business as magazine publisher and land agent.

"Here's the way I came to write that editorial," he continued:

"Many gentlemen from other cities have told me that the ladies of St. Louis were less attractive than any they had ever seen.

"Two gentlemen challenged me to walk through the West End with them on a Sunday afternoon and prove to them that St. Louis ladies are beautiful. I took them up and we took a stroll along King's highway. Really, I had to confess that I was beaten.

"Mind you, I don't say that I did not see some handsome ladies, but taken all together, they were the worst lot I have seen anywhere. I was so thoroughly convinced that the criticisms of my friends were true that I hurried to my home, 5090 Kensington avenue, and wrote that editorial.

"Women don't dress well here. Men don't, either, for that matter. It is the worst city in the world in that respect.

"When St. Louis women have natural advantages of face and figure they don't know how to take advantage of them. That is especially true of the figure. A thin woman wears clothes which make her look thinner and a fat woman wears clothes which make her look fatter.

Some Girls Pretty.

"Now, I don't say that there are not pretty women in St. Louis. In my Sunday afternoon walks through the West End I have seen ladies with faces which were positively angelic—so pure and good—such open, innocent faces, open in the same sense that a cow's face is open.

"Women of that type seem never to have come in touch with the world. They don't seem to be wise like the women of other cities.

"If you look for women of that sort you will find many in St. Louis, but they don't know anything about the game of being beautiful. They don't know how to dress and they don't seem to care at all for that subtle something called 'charm.'

"The women of New York are rather overdressed, but the women of St. Louis go to the other extreme."

Greve is ambitious to be a great playwright. It was suggested to him that women are the great arbiters of theatrical success and that his editorial assailing the femininity of St. Louis might work as a boomerang against him.

"I hardly think so," he said. "They will have forgotten it by the time one of my plays is staged."

Which is probably true.

NEW YORK SEES MARKED CHANGE IN ROOSEVELT

President's Demeanor Different as Result of Business Distress.

SOBER AND REFLECTIVE

He Is Done With Denunciatory Attacks on Wealth, It Is Said.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—President Roosevelt was a markedly changed man when he left New York after voting in Oyster Bay. His appearance and his bearing were that of a sobered, reflective man. There was in his face a look of deep responsibility, of grave thoughtfulness, not seen before by those who know him.

From now on there will be a different plan of campaign conducted from the White House. The President is firm in his declarations that there is to be no change in his policy of antagonism toward predatory wealth and illegal corporations, but his methods are to be modified, his attacks made more discriminating and his warfare less destructive.

The events of the past two weeks in the financial world have had a remarkable effect upon Roosevelt. The crash of banks, the cry of strangled business, the frightened hoarding of money, have deeply impressed him. The hours of his journey yesterday were given more to sober reflection than to animated conversation. If final argument were needed to complete the remarkable change in the nation's chief executive, it was furnished by the sight of Manhattan's besieged sky scrapers of finance as his tug boat passed by the foot of Wall Street and skirted the battery.

The day marked the end of indiscriminate presidential denunciation, of intemperate language, of wholesale indictments, of incessant agitation against wealth, of demands for more laws to punish malefactors, of fresh plans to punish and to destroy.

Speeches to Be Conservative.

Mr. Roosevelt is not to make any more vehement speeches like those at Provincetown, and at towns along the Mississippi, at least not in the near future. Instead of causing new indictments to be brought wholesale against trusts and corporations the law will be allowed to take its course against those now before the courts. One or two cases will be pressed through to final decision by the Supreme Court of the United States.

These decisions, if in favor of the Government, will furnish the President with legal weapons so effective that no further agitation or denuciation will be needed to curb other unlawful corporations.

No one has ventured to urge upon the President that he abandon his chosen policy, but friendly supporters, men of loyally but calm judgment, have endeavored to show him better and safer paths of procedure. Mr. Roosevelt has listened to this advice but more particularly has he been influenced by the sudden and overwhelming cry of sound business distress from many cities of the country.

Why He Paused.

As long as it was merely New York speculators in trouble he forged ahead with all the greater abandon. But when the country became affected he paused.

While nothing has been said by the President to his intimates, it is considered very likely that his message to Congress will undergo certain modifications.

It is realized that Congress could not handle in a single session all the great national projects which the President has launched, such as Federal incorporation, Federal license for corporations doing interstate business, control of corporations under the post-roads clause of the Constitution, taxes on swollen fortunes and taxes on inheritances. The new plan will be to concentrate on one or two measures and push them through to completion before undertaking others.

Mr. Roosevelt's sudden change of attitude may be summed up in this phrase:

No abandonment of policy, but modification of methods.

MANY COUNTIES IN ILLINOIS PUT BAN ON SALOON

Women Were Active at Polls in Fight for Prohibition.

Local option won Tuesday in fifteen of the twenty counties in Illinois in which special elections on the liquor question were held.

During the day there were parades by members of the W. C. T. U., school children, church organizations and others opposed to saloons. Women worked hard at the polls, in many cases serving coffee and luncheon to the voters.

Incomplete returns indicate that the following counties have gone "dry" either wholly or in part: Union, Cass, Wabash, Massac, Edmonds, Williamson, Calhoun, Perry, Pulaski, Randolph, Johnson, Edwards, Morgan, Menard and Pike.

There are a few "wet" precincts in Perry, Pulaski, Randolph, Morgan and Menard counties.

PENUCHLE IS NOT A GAME OF CHANCE, JUSTICE DECLARES

Anton Stoltz Freed From Charge of Allowing Card Playing in His Saloon.

Penuchle is not a game of chance, according to a decision handed down by Justice Frey at St. Charles. Of course it isn't. Anyone in North or South St. Louis could have told him that and saved him the trouble of looking it up in Coke and Blackstone.

Handling two decks of cards and keeping track of a score that runs up into a thousand requires the same sort of skill necessary to juggle a dining table, a silk hat, a toothpick and a sheet of cigarette paper at once without dropping the toothpick on your toes.

A game of chance? Of course not. You have no chance at all unless you were born with a pack of cards in each hand and developed rare conversational and controversial powers at the age of six months.

Judge Frey's ruling was in the case of Anton Stoltz, a saloonkeeper, charged with permitting card playing in his dramshop.

BEST ELGIN BUTTER DROPS TO THIRTY CENTS, BUT EGGS ARE NOT CHEAP

Retailers are selling butter for various prices in the city, but they are all able to sell the best Elgin creamery product for 30 cents a pound. Some dealers are doing so.

The butter market dropped 3 cents this week, the wholesale price tumbling from 29½ cents a pound to 26½ cents.

"Thirty cents is where the price should be," said F. W. Brockmann of the F. W. Brockmann Commission Co. Wednesday. "More butter will be sold if the retailers keep it at that figure.

"But butter is not going any lower. Reports to that effect are misleading. The butter market is firm now and there will be no more decline in prices, in my opinion. The decline was not due, as reported to the financial stringency, but was perfectly legitimate. It followed the setting of a too high price earlier in the season."

Retailers are selling eggs at various prices. They range from 25 to 35 cents a dozen. Fresh eggs are scarce at that, and no decline in egg prices is looked for. The wholesale price for fresh eggs is 23 cents a dozen. Storage eggs are sold wholesale at 21c and the market is dull.

GOES AFTER GERMS.

How Hyomei Does Its Work in Curing Catarrh.

Nature's remedy for catarrhal troubles is the oils and balsams found in Hyomei. It is a specific, not a cure all. It has but one mission, the cure of catarrh.

The natural way of curing a disease is always the scientific way and the scientific way of curing catarrh is the simple way, with Hyomei.

Catarrh is a germ disease and can be cured only by using Hyomei, the treatment that reaches and destroys all catarrhal germs.

Breathed through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, Hyomei's medication reaches the most remote air cells of the nose, throat and lungs, going after the disease germs wherever present, destroying them and preventing their growth, thus making catarrhal troubles impossible.

There is no dangerous stomach dosing when Hyomei is used. It is solely an inhalation treatment, prepared specially to kill the catarrhal germs.

Begin its use at once and see how quickly it gives relief and lasting cure.

We positively guarantee Hyomei, for should you buy a complete outfit, price $1.00, and be dissatisfied with results, your money will be refunded. Hyomei is sold by druggists everywhere. Write for literature. Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

BOY STUDENT OF CARLISLE STEALS 83 LIBRARY BOOKS

Phillips Robonitz, 15 years old, embezzled books. For several months past he has been slipping them out of the Public Library and carrying them home. He worked as a messenger in that institution.

The great maze of shelves with their thousands of books all around him excited his intellectual cupidity. His mind thirsted for the treasures hidden away within the leather and buckram bindings. He longed to pore over all sorts of volumes and make his own the thoughts men had written long ago.

But he had no money to buy books and he had no library card, because he knew no property owner who would sign his application.

Takes One at a Time.

So, one by one, stealthily, he smuggled the precious volumes out of the building and home with him, where he placed them in a trunk in his bedroom at 1122 High street, and, in the night, when other boys were asleep, he read the stolen books until his eyes ached. He forgot how he had acquired the books, remembering only that they were in his hands, before his eyes, to be read and brooded over to his heart's content.

But the clerks at the library began missing books and reported that fact to the police. They kept a sharp lookout themselves and Tuesday evening Night Watchman John L. Parker detected Phillip making away with two books. He took the books and called policemen.

Phillip was placed in the House of Detention and detectives went to his home, where they found 83 books in the bedroom trunk. They covered a wide range of subjects: Longfellows' poems, Robin Hood, a German grammar, Sherlock Holmes, Jack London's works, some of Carlisle's books on natural history and anthropology, history and even "The Chatterbox Books" for children.

"I didn't intend to keep the books," said Phillip, "I thought, being employed at the library, I had a right to take them. I intended to return them. I was so anxious to read all I could. I guess I am a bookworm. I never gave away or sold a book. The 83 in the trunk are all I have taken."

TURNKEYS WANT A SHORTER DAY

Police Clerks Also Ask to Be Put on Basis of Policemen.

Now that the three-platoon system is in working order, the turnkeys and clerks in the various police districts who work 12 hours are asking for a shorter day. Only in the Central District Station do the turnkeys have an 8-hour day.

Not including lunch hour, the clerks in every district work 10 hours. They want their hours reduced to those of a policeman. Chief Creecy said there was no provision for a reduction of working hours for turnkeys and clerks, and he did not know whether any would be made.

A Simple Prescription For Stomach Troubles

One That Can Be Mixed at Home.

Here is a simple prescription that will tone your stomach and put it in condition to digest your food:

Compound Tincture of Cinchona, one ounce; Prosene Compound, one ounce, and Sherry Wine, half a pint; mix together and take one teaspoonful before meals and at bed time in a wine glass full of water.

This prescription can be put up by any druggist.

The Prosene Compound in this prescription is a compound of digestive ferments and the best vegetable tonics known to medical science; they increase the secretions of gastric juices and increase their digestive powers.

We advise that if you are troubled with your stomach you get this prescription filled at your drug store and give it a trial.—Cooper Pharmacal Co.

"FIRST IN EVERYTHING."

TUESDAY'S ELECTIONS.

For the first time since 1892, Democrats may reasonably find some encouragement in election figures.

Mr. Burton, Republican, who has been beaten for Mayor of Cleveland, was an administration man as well as a powerful supporter of Mr. Taft's presidential aspirations. His rejection at the polls may have far-reaching political results.

Tammany carries New York by an old-time majority, against a fusion of Republicans and Hearst's Independence Leaguers.

New Jersey, for some years strongly Republican, is once more fighting ground, and Rhode Island, formerly as safely Republican as Vermont, has again elected a Democratic Governor.

While these things were taking place at the North, however, Kentucky, for many years the very Gibraltar of the Democrats, was electing the Republican State ticket, and this fact is sufficiently significant to serve as an offset to Democratic gains elsewhere.

With Missouri, Kentucky, West Virginia, Maryland and Delaware voting for the Republicans occasionally, it is plain enough that the old border states are destined once more to play an exceedingly influential part in national politics.

BELLING THE CAT.

The President of the United States has had the honor of a call from Messrs. Gary and Frick of the Steel Corporation, whose errand was a peculiar one.

We may gain an idea as to the object of the visit from the press report, which says that the President gave the gentlemen "assurances that no strong language would be used in the annual message to Congress of a nature likely to affect adversely the business conditions."

Mr. Harriman used to be on friendly terms at the White House, but an estrangement ensued. J. Pierpont Morgan "dropped in" occasionally merely to pass the time of day, but he, too, became persona non grata.

If there is a trust in the United States in the meaning of the statutes, it is the Steel Corporation. For some reason it has not been prosecuted, and it has not even been preached against. Although it has had some exceedingly objectionable men in its high offices, not one of them has been even hinted at as a possible malefactor.

We, therefore, congratulate Messrs. Frick and Gary upon their apparent success in belling the cat. It is the first time that it has been done.

MR. LINDE SOLICITS MORE BUSINESS.

After paying his fine for grafting with the jaunty remark that it "wiped off the slate," ex-Councilman Linde repaired at once to the City Hall and solicited public business from various officials.

It had perhaps not occurred to this person that honest officials will be loath to do business with him and exceedingly wary of any contracts he proposes. He has cheated the public once, and that he is not only willing but eager to cheat it again, if possible, is a legitimate inference from his indifference to the gravity of his offense, from his disregard of propriety and from his amazing haste to resume negotiations.

The city's sole justification for letting any kind of contract to Linde will be a perfect security against trickery, coupled with the lowest bid. And the burden of proving that the contract is a sound and honest one and that his is actually the best bid will be upon the officials who are responsible for making it.

LA FOLLETTE TALKS FOR THREE HOURS.

Lecturing in East St. Louis, Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, a so-called Republican, devoted so much time to eulogy of Joseph W. Folk and William J. Bryan that his hearers became weary and many of them took their departure before his three hours' address was concluded.

There is not much hope for Mr. La Follette if he cannot state his case in less time than this. When he was Governor he spoke briefly and to the point, and it was his unhappy adversaries who talked for three or four hours to sleepy and dwindling crowds.

What can be the matter with the Jean Jacques Rosseau from the Badger State? Has his brief service in the chilly Senate of the United States taken the heart out of him?

Kisses that come from the heart are rarely exchanged in public. The ministers who eagerly insist upon the edifying and diverting performance of a public osculation between a quarreled pair would see the meaningless act a thousand times better done on the stage, without any embarrassment to the participants. The ministers are finding their amusement at too much cost to the victims.

Gov. Cummins of Iowa wants to help the financial situation by amending the Constitution of the United States, which takes about ten years when everybody is agreed, but Mr. Roosevelt's lop-dash idea of amending it by judicial construction is more popular with the financiers.

WORKING WITHOUT PAY.

There are many reasons why a rich man should not be permitted to hold public office merely because he is rich. There are more and stronger reasons why a man of wealth should not be given a position as public prosecutor when he offers to perform the work without compensation.

In the State's Attorney's office at Chicago a young man possessing an independent fortune is acting as assistant in the prosecution of criminal cases, partly because he enjoys the excitement and partly because he wants the experience. Perhaps as an inducement to his employer and perhaps because he does not value his own services highly, he is working without pay.

Without reflecting in any way upon the person in question, whose motives may be of the best, it is easy to see how arrangements of this kind might lead to abuse and scandal. Men who are so independent financially that they can afford to prosecute criminals for amusement probably ought to be compelled to find diversion elsewhere.

In this case the fact that there was to be no compensation evidently determined the young man's employment. The inference, then, is that he is not a proper person to entrust with the interests of society in such a capacity as that in which he is engaged.

If it be admitted that he is able and resourceful as a prosecutor, the fact that he serves merely to experience a new sensation or the zest of a new enjoyment, can hardly fail to militate against him with a jury. There is enough class feeling in this country already without engendering more of it in this manner.

On other grounds such employment may be objected to as particularly liable to abuse. Who knows what the real motives of such a man may be in entering the office of a prosecutor? Who knows what interests he may represent or what men he may serve? Who knows, as a matter of fact, that he works without hope of reward from some source?

Rich or poor, the man who works without pay generally receives in some manner more than he is worth. In these days this is quite certain to be the case when he works in the office of a State's Attorney.

The confidence of business having been needlessly impaired by "reform" that did nothing but make a noise and give malefactors an ample opportunity to hide or cover their tracks, it is now in order to impair the confidence of the malefactors themselves by going after them in a silent, persistent and effective fashion.

Jefferson City, the physician that is always happy to diagnose and prescribe for the ills of the rest of the State, is once more called upon to heal itself of the smallpox.

The man who stands on his constitutional rights is usually one who has overstepped the bounds of law and trampled on the constitutional rights of other people.

Govs. Johnson and Folk having entered disclaimers, it looks very much now as if Bryan will have to shoulder the whole load of Bryanism himself.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Our Fleeting Fame.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

With deep humiliation I read that Milwaukee is building a brewery larger than any in St. Louis. Where now is our fame? OLD CITIZEN.

Reckless Chaufeurs.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Would it not be well, in addition to compelling chauffeurs to pass a rigid examination and to produce references as to character, before obtaining license, to require a bond also, so that responsibility would be fixed to the utmost? As it is, mere boys run these powerful machines through our streets, killing pedestrians, and the public has to put up with it. Machines of this character ought to be run only by men of skill and experience, whose standing and responsibility had been rigidly fixed by law.

The Opportunity to Work.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Why is it so hard for a stranger to secure a foothold in St. Louis? I came here from the South and have now been here a month and cannot secure a position, presumably because I am a stranger. I cannot afford to join employment agencies and am compelled to solicit work from store to store, meeting with no success. I am an experienced office man, understanding billing, checking, timekeeping, etc., but am willing to take position as porter or any honest work paying me enough to support my family; can give good references.

CHARLES J. ALLEYN, Horn Hotel.

Wall in the Mississippi.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The railroad officials are complaining that with present passenger and freight rates they are unable to make necessary improvements; thousands of men are laid off. Now the cry is deep water to the Gulf. Suppose we begin at St. Paul and enlist all the states which would benefit by deep-water traffic, to appropriate as much as consistent with their tax laws. As well every resident of these states should feel that it is to his or her interest to help increase commerce. Now select civil engineers to make estimates of cost of material, thickness and height of wall on either side of river and as near the river as possible. In five years we could have deep water from St. Paul to the Gulf—deep enough for the Dreadnought of England to pay St. Louis a friendly visit. A. F.

"Shinplasters."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The Post-Dispatch has always used its influence to oppose and expose anything that menaced the welfare, growth and property of St. Louis and its citizens, and I hope it will use its strongest argument and influence in the interest and welfare of the wage-workers and small business houses of St. Louis—against putting business transactions in trade and pay-rolls on the shinplaster check system now being forced on the citizens of St. Louis by money sharks, capitalists and bankers. This money making by everybody is dangerous in the extreme and opens up a new field for shylocks, forgers and counterfeiters that will be quickly taken advantage of by them without fear from the Federal authorities, as these "shin-plasters" are not guaranteed, secured or approved by the United States Government, and are, therefore, not lawful money. A MAN IS KNOWN BY HIS COMPANY

JUST A MINUTE FOR VERSE AND HUMOR.

TWILIGHT IN FOREST PARK.

As I went home through Forest Park
The afterglow was in the west
Across the hollows where the dark
First shadows of the night invest
The forest spaces in a grey
Twilight at dying of the day.

The evening air was soft and sweet
As ever for his serenade
A lover chose, and squirrel feet
A rustling in the dry leaves made
As gathered in the winding roads
The thickening dusk that night forebodes.

The waters all were mirrors deep
Of lights that always brighter grew
As dimmer in the sky's wide sweep
Became the flush the red sun threw
Upon the arching heavens high
When autumn day was come to die.

An auto with its dragon eyes
And phantom forms, came whirring down
The empty road, and laughing cries
Re-echoed playfully around
As if when dusk to deep night grew
This hallowed place had fairies, too.

A screech owl sounded far away
His tremulous and hollow note,
And in the lake a fish at play
Splashed as if an unseen boat
Were moving there where in the bright
Still depths were now the stars of night.

As I came out of Forest Park,
I looked back to its solitude
And thought me in its shadow dark
Of Byron and Ravenna's wood—
Ah me, and I was loth to go
From its sweet deeps—I love them so.

A TAFT STORY.

Taft stories are even rarer than Taft supporters, but this one is said to be true.

On his recent trip through the Northwest, the Secretary was cautioned not to involve himself in the intense rivalry between Tacoma and Seattle. Equidistant from one of the finest mountains of that region, Seattle calls it Mount Ranier, while Tacoma calls it Mount Tacoma. Mr. Taft was to speak at Tacoma, and it was certain that he would at some stage of his speech point off toward the mountain and say something of its grandeur, or its solidity, or its everlastingness.

He did point to it when he made his Tacoma speech, but he had been coached, and he referred to it as "that mountain."

"Name it," exclaimed someone in the crowd.

Mr. Taft hopes for the support of both Tacoma and Seattle, so he didn't name it; but he came back at his challenger promptly with this:

"That reminds me of an old feud between two churches in Ireland," he said. "Things finally reached a pass where a fine of five pounds threatened anyone speaking uncomplimentarily of either church. One day a policeman heard a citizen on the street exclaiming to himself: 'The —— with!' Tiptoeing behind, the officer heard again and again: 'The —— with!' Thinking it a chance for promotion, perhaps, he grabbed the citizen, exclaiming: 'The —— with what?' 'Say it ye'self,' said the citizen, 'I'm not so rash!'

"Nor will I say the name of THAT mountain," said the foxy Secretary of War.

OUR CITY HALL REDISCOVERED.

The St. Louis City Hall is being cleaned on the exterior, and it isn't anything like we thought. If you have seen it, you will recall that it seemed to be composed of some dark material, probably black gneiss.

Wrong.

It is made of a reddish grey granite. This was discovered yesterday under the Smoke Inspector's window, where a workman succeeded in exposing the original building.

Also, the City Hall is not just what we thought architecturally. It is a much more delicate and classic structure than it seemed. Now that the filing is coming out of the nooks and crannies, and the more dainty designs are being laundried, one can feel the building's architectural spirit. No one knew the City Hall had an architectural spirit. But wait a few days, when the cleaners will have fully exposed the building, and then go around and feel it for yourself.

The college with a mule.

DETECTIVE STORIES

From Harper's.

The New York Public Library started a branch in the Detective Bureau last week. Now literary people and others are wondering how detective stories will be classed on the shelves. Ought detective stories in a detective bureau, someone demands, be considered entertainment or instruction? And someone else wants to know what, if the men obey the behest of their superior officers and arrange their course of reading so as to improve their reasoning power, is to prevent a school of critics growing up in their midst and sitting in judgment, for example, upon Sherlock Holmes and the Frenchman, Arsene Lupin, two of the best detective inspirations in first-rate literature? It might be a propitious time, in any event, to discover just what the detective does think of his brother in fiction, and whether he favors gentleman burglars or, on the whole, prefers them plain.

IN THE EMPEROR'S YOUTH.

From the Providence Journal.

Francis Joseph, the aged Emperor of Austria-Hungary, is the only living sovereign who can boast of having led an army in actual combat with an enemy. It was a few months before the ascension of Francis Joseph, in 1848, that he turned the fortunes of the day at the bloody battle of Santa Lucia by a magnificent cavalry charge led in person by the then 19-year-old Archduke. His dragoons crashed through the squares of the Sardinians and captured the guns which all day had poured a murderous fire into the Austrian ranks. He escaped without a scratch, though men fell like flies around him.

ROOSEVELT'S JOB.

From the Boston Transcript.

Many as have been the suggestions regarding the fate of Theodore Roosevelt upon his accession to the ex-presidency, nobody has yet offered him the position of literary adviser to the American public. The developments of the last few months—what with the controversy over nature fakers and similar exciting topics—would seem, however, to equip him completely for that position.

NOTES AND QUERIES.

Answers to Questions From Readers of the Post-Dispatch.

Write but one question. Sign but one initial. Legal questions must be simple. No bets decided. Business addresses not given. Address "Answers," Post-Dispatch.

B. B.—In poker a flush is higher than a straight.

W. J.—Councilman Linde has not lost his citizenship.

ST. L.—Children of second cousins are third cousins.

H.—Give your eyes a rest. Moderate use of the eye is beneficial.

W. F.—The piano stores send out men to remove rust on piano strings.

ED.—Ask any jeweler about engraving name on pearl-handle knife.

VIOLET.—Good, sound onions are said to remove impurities and to be useful in nervous diseases.

IGNORANT.—It is not improper for one in second mourning to pay party calls.

H. C.—Put your elephant-ear bulbs in a dry place in cellar where there are no rats.

READER.—Look in City Directory, in any drug store, for all kinds of schools.

X. Y. Z.—According to the estimates there are 700,000 to 750,000 people in St. Louis.

E. L. R.—It is not proper for a young man to give a young woman jewelry.

HENRY.—For airships, best grade of cotton duck. Phone any tent and awning company for price.

A.—Eureka Reporter (weekly)), Brigham Box Elder News, Box Elder Reporter (weeklies), Ogden Examiner, Standard, State Journal (all dailies).

A. E. W.—Sixteen is too young "to keep company with a young man." Love at that age is likely to be short-lived.

STENOGRAPHER.—For application blanks apply at Civil Service headquarters, old Postoffice, Third and Olive.

DELLA.—The tonic you mention has helped some people. As to yourself, you can only learn by trying it.

MAE.—You would have to advertise for, or seek personally, employment that would not interfere with your household duties.

READER.—There are diamonds that are white, steel blue, rose-colored, lemon and orange, yellow, cinnamon, light green, brown and black.

LUCILLE.—Both olive and crude petroleum are recommended for the hair. Possibly petroleum may be more stimulating to the scalp.

PAUL.—Write to "Mother Superior of the Little Sisters of the Poor, 2209 Hebert street," for information in regard to the rules and regulations of that institution.

R.—The Wells-Talty contested mayoralty election case was dismissed at the instance of Talty's counsel, as Mayor Wells' term would expire by the time the case could be decided.

H. G.—Missouri law requires payment of taxes on household furniture, however absurd this may seem to those who have not a large amount that cost a good deal.

A. F.—Walnut salad: Shell the walnuts, keeping the meats as whole as possible, and soak them a couple of hours in lemon juice to cover. Lift out with a fork and serve on cress with French dressing.

READER.—For falling hair, try rubbing crude petroleum into the scalp every night. Or try an ointment composed of 2 grains pilocarpine to 1 ounce of lanolin. Massage for dandruff.

KATY.—Property of the wife is exempt from husband's debts. Only in event of her becoming surety therefor, or when received of husband in fraud to his creditors, would the same be liable.

STEAM.—Bissell's Point is so called from the fact that it was for many years the property of Capt. Lewis Bissell, who resided there on a farm. It is now the site of the city Waterworks (begun in 1867 and completed in 1870), East Grand avenue, near Second street.

A. B. C.—He should be first to give a present. Presents for young men: Gunmetal swastika for watch chain, old-fashioned blue and white couch coverlet, traveler's cloak, wallet with monogram, reading lamp, pocket memorandum book, with pencil and adjustable leaves, fine linen handkerchiefs with hand-embroidered initials, book shelves.

GRACE.—Keep your toilet table supplied with lemons and dilute the juice to use for whitening the hands. Pure lemon juice will darken the skin. If you have blonde hair, you may safely use the juice of half a lemon with an egg shampoo but do not use it if your locks are dark. The diluted lemon juice will bleach summer freckles and be beneficial also in manicuring finger nails.

PHOS.—You can produce "a phosphorescent effect in a darkened room" by using either what is called phosphorescent oil, which is made by placing a crumb of phosphorus in a small bottle of olive oil and heating it; or by painting objects with phosphorescent paint, which you can obtain from some first-class chemical supply house. This paint is made by burning oyster shells with some other chemical substances. The process is not one that an amateur would find easy.

N. R.—The London Chronicle palliates what W. D. Howells calls the English habit of making the verb "to be" govern the accusative. The American says "It is I," the Englishman, "It is me." That, says the Chronicle, is the Englishman's modesty. The Frenchman says "C'est moi," modestly rejecting the nominative for a less assertive case. Even the Germans, who are seldom lacking in self-assertion, do not rise to the egotism of "It is I." They invert, and say "I am it."

O.—Fat is produced by bacon, fat meat, mutton, rich milk, cream, all starchy vegetables, as potatoes, beans, rice, the grains, butter, olive oil, cod-liver oil, sugar, in form of candy or sweetened drinks, bread and butter, bread and rich gravies, fat pork—in fact it may be summed up in fat meats, sugar, starchy vegetables and grains. Drinking water copiously with meals induces fat in some persons. Moderate exercise, long sleeping hours, deep breathing, freedom from worry and laughing are some of the helps toward getting fleshy.

P. J. S.—The ashes fuel-saving formula sounded very well, but those who tried it found that nothing in the mixture was consumed except the coal and the chemicals. After the mixture had burned they had the four parts ashes, just as useless as ever. Noted chemists of Philadelphia said there was nothing to the scheme. They say the addition of the salt and oxalic acid to the mixtures does not increase the heat-producing qualities in any way, and that the only thing to burn is the pure coal. The scheme for making ashes burn is said to be an old one, as men have tried the experiment for 20 years.

Y.—A strong cement which may be used for mending stone jars, stopping leaks in kettles, to fasten in lamp tops and for all sorts of other purposes is made of glycerin and litharge, made to the consistency of thick cream. This cement will resist the action of hot water and cold, and is well adapted for the mending of all sorts of things which are intended for use as well as for ornament. The one point to be remembered is this: The cement takes a long time to dry; so after the repair has been made it is well to set the jar, or whatever it may be, on a shelf for a week or more, that the cement may become perfectly hard before it is used.

CURLY.—As to curly hair, one authority says: There are two ways in which hair may be made curly. The first is for the mother, with patience and perseverance, to twist constantly the hair of her baby around her fingers, and to brush it many times a day the wrong way. The other is to have the head shaved three times against the grain, so to speak, of the hair; that is, move the razor in the opposite direction to that in which the hair grows. Another says: The hair may be trained to curl unless it is very brittle and straight, and in this case you should have your scalp treated to restore the gloss and flexibility to the hair. Apply the following curling fluid. This will have to be repeated every day if the hair is very wiry: Gum Arabic, 1 dram; sugar, 1 dram; rosewater, 2 ounces. Mix and dissolve. Moisten the hair with this solution. Put up in curling kids or papers.

E. W.—Vanilla extract is better purchased ready to use, unless the real vanilla bean, which is from Mexico, can be had; then it is easy to cut one into inch bits—they are usually about 6 to 8 inches long—and put into a bottle holding five ounces; fill with best rectified spirits, keep corked tightly, shaking occasionally, and in a month it will be strong enough to flavor with. Better than the extract is the "vanilla sugar." To make this is easy also, provided the real "bean" can be secured. Cut up enough beans to weigh an ounce, using a pair of scissors; add an ounce of alcohol and macerate half an hour; add two ounces sugar of milk. Break seven ounces of best rock candy by wrapping in a cloth and pounding with a mallet, and add; measure two pounds powdered sugar, best grade, and add. Mix thoroughly and keep in a closely stoppered bottle. Less of this is required for flavoring than of the extract.

LIZZY.—Cucumber milk is an English proprietary cosmetic which has a favorable effect on enlarged pores, by stimulating healthy action of the skin. It is, too, a specific for redness and roughness of the face and hands and for tan and sunburn. The ingredients are: Oil of sweet almonds, 4 ounces; fresh cucumber juice, 10 ounces; essence of cucumbers, 3 ounces; white castile soap (powdered), one-fourth ounce; tincture of benzoin, two-thirds drachm. If you cannot have this formula filled by a druggist, follow these directions: Obtain the juice of cucumbers by boiling them in very little water; slice thin, skin and all, and let cook till mushy. Strain through a fine sieve, then through a cloth. Make the essence by putting an ounce and a half of the juice into the same quantity of high-proof alcohol. Put the essence with the soap in a large bottle. When the soap is dissolved, shake till the mixture is thorough. Then pour into an earthen bowl and add the benzoin and oil, stirring to a cream. Be certain that the cucumber juice is strong, as the natural arsenic in the cucumber imparts the whitening property of the lotion. Put in small bottles, well corked and keep in a dark, cool place. Shake before using.

BETTY VINCENT'S ADVICE TO GIRLS.

Hints Which Fair Readers of the Post-Dispatch Will Find Valuable.

IF YOU are a girl and love the pretty trinkets which so appeal to every woman, don't forget that an excess of jewelry is bad taste. Simplicity should mark a young girl's attire, and when decked out in numerous chains, bracelets and rings an air of cheapness and vulgarity will mar her appearance. The wise girl, if she cannot afford the real thing, will shun imitations, for nothing is gaudier than an array of cheap brilliants. It is seldom that anyone is deceived as to the quality of jewelry, and the girl who indulges her fancy for pretty trinkets should use great discretion in her selection. Those who have expensive jewels seldom wear them during the daytime, and in office hours for the working girl they are distinctly out of place. Of course, a stickpin or some other simple ornament, if it is inconspicuous and genuine, can always be worn, but the fewer trinkets a girl wears the more attractive is her appearance.

A man always prefers to see his sweetheart simply and neatly dressed, rather than decked out like a little barbarian. He generally considers her extravagant and unfit to become a good wife if she wears numerous ornaments, so if you wish to hold the elusive fancy of man, don't indulge too freely in jewelry. An attractive appearance can be had without the adornment of trinkets, and if you are wise you will quickly discard all unnecessary jeweled ornaments.

THE GIRL WHO WORKS.

NO, THIS is not going to be a lecture on the dignity of work at all. I am talking to the girl employed in office or store, but not about her duties there. Instead, I want to give her a few points about her behavior toward men who are fellow-employes. Not infrequently you will fancy yourself in love with some man who works where you do. Still oftener you will be tempted to flirt with some such man. For your own sake, for the sake of your work, remember that your place of employment is not a drawing-room and don't bring the personal element into it. You're in love with a man in the office? Very good. Let him call on you at your home and there you can let the affair progress as you choose. You like to flirt? Then do it outside of office hours. Otherwise your work will suffer, you will become the laughing-stock of others, and the man in question will have scant incentive to meet you elsewhere. During office hours treat all men as if there were no such thing as love or flirtation in the world. Think it over. Ask some experienced people. You'll find I am right.

HOW MAY GIRLS MEET MEN?

A Prize Discussion by Readers of the Post-Dispatch.

HOW may a lonely girl in a large city make suitable acquaintances? Observe that the word MAY is used. A girl CAN make acquaintances in many ways that violate her delicacy and the proprieties. Many are employed in places where only women work or with married men. They lack the assertiveness necessary to cross the line of coldness which envelopes many church congregations; they are too modest to go unattended to the dancing academies.

Prizes aggregating $10 will be paid for the seven best suggestions. Address: Prize Letters, Post-Dispatch.

A GIRL, either good looking or passingly fair, if she behaves properly, may make friends any place, both male and female. Let her get board in any nice family. They will naturally introduce her to their friends. These, in turn, will introduce her to others. Before long she will have both male and female acquaintances.

MRS. J. M. ALFREDS,
190 E. Sixteenth street,
Covington, Ky.

If young ladies and all marriageable women of today would carry a pleasant, modest smile upon their faces, accept little accidently given offices from kind-hearted men, without any desire to push an acquaintance, they would probably make some very nice gentlemen friends. I have often thought young ladies could form themselves into clubs, obtain the names of worthy men from some reliable business man, invite these young men to join and give entertainments without refreshments once a week. Let each gentleman come, bringing an introduction from the gentlemen who had sent in his name to a social. Many friendships would thus be formed in purity and truth that would give the young men proper society, cost them nothing and be an entertainment to the young ladies, who work hard all day and need recreation in the evening. A chaperone could be obtained from among some bright, interesting married ladies, who would be only too well pleased to help the young ladies make living a joy, in place of a sorrow. Social gatherings should be arranged among every class of society, not to dance or play cards, but to become acquainted, converse on intellectual subjects. It would save many from a downward course, both boys and girls, and give a chance for proper acquaintance.

MARIE G. DE HART.

It is most natural for a lonely girl to be at a loss to know the most suitable way to become acquainted with the most respected and well-bred of the opposite sex. A young girl cannot be too considerate in choosing a refined young man for an escort, so I would advise for her own welfare that she will board at a Young Woman's Christian Association or where quite a number of girls alone board (or frequent such places if living in the city all of their lives), and by the means or through the influence of the refined and cultured young ladies one is made able to be thrown in contact with some of their gentlemen friends, who as a general rule, are considered manly young men. A better plan still would be to frequent church services and sociables making the acquaintance of the young ladies and gents who regularly attend meetings in God's most holy house. A young lady is more apt to meet the most esteemed and moral young men of the community in this manner.

MRS. ROSE KOONS,
2301A Laclede avenue.

In all this big, wide world, there is no loneliness to compare with loneliness felt in the midst of a city full of people. To the girl, a stranger, and away from home, life wends a treacherous way, and stepping-stones are slippery. To the high-minded girl is given an instinctive discernment between the right and the wrong. There will necessarily be acquaintances made in business relations and in the boarding home. Congenial spirits will, well, do the magnet and the needle act, and lo! a friend. Be it man or woman, be true. The rest is simple. Don't hurry. Small opportunities will present themselves—make the most of them. Give to those you meet the best that is in you—courtesy, consideration and sympathy. Do not ask more than you are willing to give and you will soon to able to hold your own in a circle that will satisfy both socially and morally. This circle contains the desired male acquaintances, but be sure of the women friends first.

MRS. ALBERT THOMAS.
Mayfield, Graves County, Ky.

Let the young lady in question attend Sunday morning services, also attend Sunday school and join the Bible class; and again at night attend Christian Endeavor and the evening service, until she becomes acquainted with the young ladies of the church sufficient for them to introduce her to the young men. Let her attend some church within the reach of all. I don't think she will have to take any farther steps to get acquainted.

MRS. H. F. HUGO,
Eastern Avenue Heights.

It is easy to distinguish cultured and refined people from those of the lower classes, but some villians whose hearts and souls are too vile for inspection and cloaked in such an air of refined and polished manners that it is hard to discriminate a gentleman from a criminal, so far as outward appearance is concerned. The safest way for a girl to make desirable acquaintances in a strange city is through the church. Whether she be a member or not, she surely attends some church, and if there are no good people in the churches, where are they to be found? Some city churches have a committee whose duty it is to look after strangers. The girl should have her pastor, or the pastor of some church in her home town, send her a letter of introduction to the pastor of the church which she wishes to attend in the city, asking him to introduce her to desirable people in his congregation. Then, if she is a regular attendant and of the "right turn," she will not be long gaining a wide circle of friends and acquaintances. If she is too timid to call upon the city pastor and send in her card and letter of introduction, she is far too much so to receive attentions from the opposite sex.

MRS. R. M. DONALDSON.
Gutline, Ky.

I am a young girl, 19 years old, and having read in your paper so much about the lonelies, I would like very much to get acquainted with some of them. Am I lonely? Well, no; not exactly, but I can sympathize with them. I have several very nice girl friends who spend many lonely evenings and Sundays because they are not acquainted with any young girls and boys of their age, and have no chance of getting acquainted. Now, Mr. Post-Dispatch, I would suggest that we form a club and name it the "Lonely Club," anyone being eligible who would give proper references or be introduced by a member. In this way many nice girls and boys could make friends and acquaintances and also have a sociable, allround good time. Should this club be a reality I announce myself as a candidate for president or a member, if nothing else. All success to the future "Lonely Club," and best wishes to the many lonelies.

BROMIDES I HAVE MET.

Dr. Chuf Analyzes Current Phrases for the Post-Dispatch.

NO. 11—"ABOLISHMENT."

THE good old word "abolition," which means everything that a noun formed from the verb "abolish" could be required to mean, and which meant enough in addition to give us the Civil War, has been retired. In its place, in current literature and conversation, we have "abolishment."

Ivan Whin says this is Anglo-Saxonisement gone mad, and I think he is right.

If we are to have "abolishment"—and the dictionaries have been forced to accept it, though they define it only as "abolition"—let us also have describement instead of description, commovement instead of commotion and transactment instead of transaction.

The word itself suggests its fitting fate.

LITTLE JOURNEYS INTO THE FUTURE.

Transcribed From the Magic Slate for the Post-Dispatch.

BY W. H. JAMES.

ED. HARRIMAN passed through St. Louis this morning. He was easily recognized by his long white whiskers and his ruddy complexion, which combine to make him a typical picture of the well-to-do and contented farmer.

"Things is gettin' along fine down my way," he said. "Crops is lookin' up and if the weather is as good this fall as it was last fall, I'm goin' to put an L on my house and clear another 'forty' fer a truck garden. They ain't nothin' like a farmer's life. Stocks ain't no good. Fellow was down my way tryin' to sell me some railroad shares last week and I sicked the dogs on him.

TESS ON LITERARY CLUBS.

She Voices a Protest Otherwise a "Yawn," Which Is Reported to the Post-Dispatch.

BY JOSEPH A. FLYNN.

"YOU appear to be a trifle tired this morning," I remarked to Tess at breakfast yesterday. "Did some persistent admirer keep you out on the stoop again last evening in all that cold?"

"Not this time," she replied, facing the mirror and twisting a truant lock of hair into place. "I was right on the job up in the parlor until the farewell bell last night—so you can figure out for yourself just how much time I had to nestle in the hay. You know Miss Glove-Counter, on the second floor—the girl with the swell black Princess and the beautiful black feathers in her hat, always in curl, even though it does cost seven dimes to have them fixed up? You know the girl I mean. Well, she belongs to what she calls a literary society. What a literary society means you can search me, but I think it was started to fight the Barber Trust, for almost every John on deck last night (with the exception of Adrian, who always looks as bright and clean as a new penny) hasn't been on speaking terms with the razor for a year.

"She caught the old lady in the middle of a joy storm yesterday and got the use of the parlor for the night.

The first crack out of the box a long drink of water, with a neck like the Third National Building got up. He had a hall room voice, and he rattled the paper on the wall and all the dishes downstairs with a horrible think-twister about the terrible condition of the Democratic party in China. After him a human lighthouse, with a blushing nose, nailed the center of the floor and almost turned his face into a lake with a touching hymn about "A Little Drop of Water," even though he didn't know what it tasted like. Then a wild yahoo murdered the keys of the pan for ten minutes, and after he was dragged forcibly away, and told to be good, a young dame on the other side of the room stood up. I understand she's crazy to be a hamfatter and count the ties, but if she ever gets up before honest people who cough up real rocks to see a show and throw the fit she did last night there'll be a wop holiday in some town.

"She tore off 'Asleep at the Ditch,' with her lunch hooks tearing holes in the air, and Adrian said he knew some people who were put away for less than that, but right at the half-way post she got huffy and wouldn't finish, because three fresh Alecs, who hold down a room in that house at the back, put their heads out of one of the windows and imitated a boiler factory with a horn, and all the time she was raving they yelled, 'Shoot it!' 'Take it away!' 'Here comes the wagon!' 'Kill it!' and things like that.

"The old lady was madder than you'd be if you sat in a crowded car some rainy afternoon with a nice pair of tender trilbys and everybody walked all over them and forgot to say, 'Excuse me.' She put on her lace shawl and went out on the porch and opened up, but they came back with a red-hot jolly and told her to send hubby over the fence and they'd give him a pink tea. But the old lady knows the only way to stop a blow is to run up against it; so she quit, and the circus ended with a buck and wing dance by one of the nicest little Merries you ever saw."

"And how was that part of the entertainment—good?" I inquired, critically examining the bone before me for some signs of meat.

"You bet your sweet life it was good!" she exclaimed, as one of the biscuits rolled off the table and put a dent in the floor. "It brought down the house—and half the new ceiling in the kitchen."

Operations Avoided

Hospitals in our great cities are sad places to visit.
Three-fourths of the patients lying on those snow white beds are women and girls.
Why should this be the case? Because they have neglected themselves.

Every one of these patients had plenty of warning while affected with pain at the left or right of side, nervous exhaustion, pain in the small of the back; all of which are indications of an unhealthy condition.

Do not drag along at home or in your place of employment until you are obliged to go to the hospital and submit to an examination and possible operation. Build up the feminine system, remove the derangements which have signified themselves by danger signals, and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, has saved many women from the hospital. Read the letters here published with the full consent of the writers, and see how they escaped operations by a faithful reliance on Mrs. Pinkham's advice and consistent treatment with

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Perry Byers, of Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, writes:
Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"I was told by my physician that I had a fibroid tumor and that I would have to be operated upon. I wrote to you for advice, which I followed carefully and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am not only cured of the tumor but other organic troubles, and can do all my own work after eight years of suffering."

Miss Rose Moore, 307 W. 26th St., New York, writes:
Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured me of the very worst form of womanly ills, and I wish to express to you my deepest gratitude. I suffered intensely for two years so that I was unable to attend to my duties and was a burden to my family. I doctored and doctored with only temporary relief and constantly objecting to an operation which I was advised to undergo. I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it cured me of the terrible trouble, and I am now in better health and I have been for many years."

This and other such cases should encourage every woman to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before she submits to an operation.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of sickness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. From the symptoms given, the trouble may be located, and helpful advice sent absolutely free.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND, made from Native Roots and Herbs, complies with all conditions of the new Pure Food and Drugs Law, and is so guaranteed.

"COMBINE" MAN FAVORS A HOUSE REORGANIZATION

Vincent McShane Tells Constituents He Will Vote for New Speaker.

Vincent McShane, member of the House of Delegates from the Twenty-seventh Ward, has made the statement that he would vote for a resolution to reorganize the House of Delegates if one was offered at the regular meeting Friday evening.

McShane, who has consistently voted with the "combine" in the House, helped to defeat a resolution asking him to withdraw from the House "combine," which was offered Tuesday night, at a meeting of the Twenty-seventh Ward Improvement Association. The resolution was withdrawn after McShane explained that he was willing to withdraw from the "combine" without appearing to have been forced to do so.

McShane's announcement that he would vote for a resolution to reorganize the House next Friday, is taken as indicating that such a resolution will be introduced. Its passage would probably result in the shelving of Thomas Leonard, Clerk of the House; Daniel H. Naughton, Assistant Clerk, and William (Sport) Brady, Sergeant-at-Arms.

Eight Men Rule Combine.

The division of strength in the House organization, as laid out by McShane in his speech before the improvement association, indicates that the "combine," or ruling faction of the House, is made up of eight members, who have associated with them the majority membership of ten other members, leaving a minority of ten members.

Most of the 18 members that make up the majority state their reasons for voting with the "combine" has been to prevent Delegate Fred Wiedmer, "boss" of the last House organization, from coming into power again, which they say would be the inevitable result of the majority sought the ten votes of the minority, to overthrow the eight votes of the "combine."

Even the elevation of Wiedmer to power is a possibility in the minds of the majority who have been brought into unpleasant notoriety by reason of their affiliation with Warner and Priesmeyer, the indicted members of the "combine."

The test on the proposed reorganization is expected to come next Friday on a resolution to resurrect and pass the free bridge bill now being held up in the Committee of Public Improvements. Members of the committee include Ferd Warner, chairman, and Delegate Priesmeyer, both under indictment in connection with alleged bribery to secure the passage of the Ascher garage bill.

FEDERAL O. K. ON ST. LOUIS BONDS

Comptroller Advised by Treasury That City Paper Is Security for Deposits.

City Comptroller Player has been notified by J. H. Edwards, acting secretary of the Treasury, that St. Louis city bonds are accepted by the Government as security for deposits to 90 per cent of their market value, but not to exceed 90 per cent of their par value. This statement was sent to Comptroller Player in response to a telegram asking whether the Comptroller of the Currency at Washington had ruled that St. Louis bonds would not be accepted by the Government as security for deposits.

Mr. Player's telegram was called forth by a dispatch in a morning newspaper, stating that the new issue of St. Louis bonds are not now accepted as security by the Treasury Department.

Mr. Player felt much relieved when he received the reply of Acting Secretary of the Treasury Edwards, to whom the telegram had been referred by Comptroller Ridgely.

Mr. Edwards' telegram follows: "Referring to your telegram of this date, you are advised that St. Louis bonds are accepted by the department as security for deposits at 90 per cent of their market value, but not to exceed 90 per cent of their par value. These are the same terms on which all State and municipal bonds are accepted."

Mr. Player said that if it had been true that the Treasury Department had ruled against the bonds as security he would have been hampered in depositing of waterworks renewal bonds, of which $343,000 has been sold out of an issue of $2,000,000.

PARSON COUGHS UP NAIL AT PRAYER; SWALLOWED IT SIXTEEN MONTHS AGO

Doctors Said He Had Bronchitis, but Rev. Baragwanath Knew What Ailed Him.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Rev. Thomas H. Baragwanath, pastor of one of the largest Methodist congregations in New York, swallowed a wire nail on July 4, 1906. He unswallowed it last Sunday night while trying to lead his congregation in prayer.

"I knew it was the nail that was in my bronchial tube all the time," the minister said. "I felt it stick when it went down.

"I was puttering around the place, tacking things together here and there and this nail was the last I had to drive. I had it between my lips when I stopped to listen to a fish tale.

"It was a good story and I made a face at it, and then I laughed. Down my throat went the nail head first."

East St. Louis News

W. A. Meloan, formerly State Evangelist of Mississippi, now of Montgomery City, Mo., will commence a revival meeting at the Lansdowne Church Sunday.

The regular monthly meeting and dinner of the East St. Louis Commercial Club will be held at the Elks' Clubrooms, tomorrow, at 6 p. m.

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah M. Painter, 72 years old, who died Tuesday morning at her home, 417 Market avenue, will be held tomorrow at 1:30 p. m., from the family residence to Bellefontaine Cemetery, St. Louis. She is survived by five children.

The Retail Merchants' Association meeting Tuesday night was the largest held for several months. The principal discussion was the financial situation and the system of cashier's checks now in use. Talks were made explaining the system by F. T. Joyner, Reuben Kamlner, Fred Glessing, Arthur Becker, John Thomas and George Brichler. A committee consisting of L. F. Tissler, Fred Glessing and G. W. Brichler was appointed to prepare criticisms against the parcels post system proposed by the Government and send them to the Postmaster-General at Washington.

The estate of Louis Metaxas has filed suit in the City Court against the Chicago, Burlington & Qpincy Railroad for $10,000. Metaxes was killed June 2, 1907, at Beardstown in a collision of a freight car and a boarding car.

The case of the estate of H. P. Zetsche against the C., P. & St. L. Railroad for $10,000 damages on account of the death of Zetsche is on trial in the City Court. He was killed Aug. 17, 1906, at the Brooklyn crossing of the railroad. At a former trial in the City Court the jury returned a verdict for $10,000, but the Appellate Court reversed the case on a technicality and ordered a retrial.

The Winstanley Epworth League will give a social at Winstanley M. E. Church, Twenty-ninth and State streets, Friday evening. Oysters will be served. The proceeds are to be applied to a church building fund.

THE POST-DISPATCH'S DAILY RECORD OF MARKETS AND FINANCE

N. Y. STOCKS ARE IRREGULAR AT OPENING

Fractional Gains and Losses From Monday's Close Was the Rule.

EARLY TRADING BULLISH

In First Half Hour There Is Pronounced Strength in All Issues.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6, 10 a. m.—Following the lead of London, which was very irregular in character, the market opened this morning without any marked leaning to either side.

For the most part there were fractional gains and losses from Monday's close, and the gains were considerably in excess of the losses. With the exception of Amalgamated, all the industrials were up, and this stock also in the first four sales went above its closing price of Monday. Steels opened fractionally higher, the preferred selling ex-dividend of 1¾ per cent.

In the initial stages of trade, both the Steel issues were active, and moving in a higher range.

About half a dozen of the prominent rail stocks opened low, but before the first half hour had passed they had recorded substantial advances.

The Hill securities showed much strength, Great Northern, which opened at 113½, 1½ points over its last previous close, going almost to 115 in half a dozen sales. Harriman Pacifics, although showing no particular strength at the opening, also moved up in sympathy with the Hill issues.

Reading was also active and strong, moving up 2 points within half an hour.

Tuesday's cessation from business was evidently of much benefit to Wall street, because the market assumed a firm tone and a confidence in the early stages of the day's business, to which it has been a stranger for some time.

The losses that were recorded at the opening were all recovered in the first 15 minutes of trading.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6, 12:30 p. m.—The market continued on its upward move to the noon hour, when most encouraging advances were made in almost the entire list.

Anaconda was the only issue in the industrial division that made no gain from its opening, but neither did it lose, because it was at parity at 12 o'clock.

The Coppers and Steels made satisfactory progress, Steel preferred being especially bullish, with an advance from the opening of 2¼ points.

The greatest gains made in the rails division was by the Harriman Pacific, Southern and Union making a uniform gain of 2 points each.

Atchison, Delaware & Hudson, Great Northern and Missouri Pacific were up 1½ points, while Reading had scored an advance of 2 points by noon.

There was one notable exception to this bull movement, and that was Canadian Pacific, which dropped 1½ points from its opening. This solitary recession in an otherwise strong market is suggestive. Canadian Pacific is held largely in London, and when it weakens in the face of a bullish market it simply means that London is not yet satisfied with financial conditions in Wall street, in which it exercises so much influence.

LARGE DECLINES IN WHEAT PRICES

Demand Poor and Values Recede Sharply Under Miscellaneous Selling.

LIVERPOOL CABLES LOWER

Coarse Grains Down and Cash Demand Slow—World's Visible Increases.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKETS IN BRIEF

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—The wheat market opened weak today, the chief influence being a decline of 1 pence at Liverpool. December wheat opened a shade to ⅝@½d lower, at 94¾@95⅛c, sold at 95¼c and then declined to 94⅝@⅞c. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 534 cars. The market became very weak during the last half of the session, prices declining to more than 2c below the high point on reports of more failures. The low point for December was 92¾c. The market closed weak, with December off 2⅜c, at 92¾@⅞c.

The corn market opened easier because of lower cables and favorable weather thoughout the corn belt. December corn opened ¼c lower at 59⅜c, sold at 59⅝c, and then declined to 59½c. The late market became very weak., December selling off to 58⅛c. The close was weak, with December off 1⅞c, at 58¼c.

The oats market was easy and trading was very light.

The provision market was active and prices were weak on general selling by packers and commission houses.

Live hogs were also decidedly weak.

Trading in local grain was again of small proportions Wednesday and the tone was easy all day, especially late in the session, when they sold down sharply, mainly on the lack of a demand. The close was 1⅝c to 2c lower for the day. Liverpool cables closed unchanged on spot wheat and ¾d lower on the futures. Paris closed ¼c lower on wheat and ¼c lower to ½c higher on flour. Antwerp wheat closed unchanged. Budapest wheat ⅜c lower and Berlin wheat ⅜c higher. Bradstreet reports an increase of 2,700,000 bu in wheat east of the Rocky Mountains, a decrease of 800,000 bu in wheat in Europe and afloat, and a total increase of 1,900,000 bu in the world's visible supply of wheat.

The weak Liverpool cables, poor export demand from the United Kingdom, the difficulty still being encountered in moving the spring wheat crop, though the situation has been somewhat relieved by help from the Government, and lower prices at Minneapolis and Winnipeg caused scattered selling at the opening and prices declined about ⅝c. The bulls were enabled to prevent an extreme break by the light pressure, but the demand also was slow, and prices moved rather slowly at easier levels throughout the early parts of the session. The market was very sensitive to any occasional buying, and several rallies were made. It was reported that export bids from the Continent were firm and higher, and quite a volume of wheat was worked for abroad, most of it being hard and red, but the business was somewhat restricted by the light offerings.

The movement continues light and shipments fair, but the cash demand at practically all markets, especially in the Northwest, was very slow. Better weather was reported in Argentine, but very unfavorable reports continue to come from Russia. Bradstreet caused some slight buying when it was posted, as the increase compares with a much larger one last year.

Trading livened up considerably late in the day, and heavy offerings began to come in. The demand was poor, and the late market ruled weak, with prices declining steadily. The close was at the low point. December wheat opened ¼c higher, at 93¾c, declined to 93⅛c, rallied to 93¾c, declined to 92⅝c, advanced to 93c, fluctuated between the latter price and 93⅛@¾c, declined sharply to 92⅜c, fluctuated between 92½c and 92c, declined to 91¾c and closed at 91¾c sellers. May wheat opened ¼c lower, at 102⅞c, advanced to 103⅜@¼c, declined to 102½c, rallied to 102⅞c, sagged to 102⅛@¼c, rallied to 102½c, was offered at 102⅝c, advanced to 102¾c, declined to 101⅞c and at the close was offered at 101½c, the low point.

The cash demand for wheat was slow, the market quiet and prices were lower. Total receipts of wheat at all Western primary markets were 873,000 bu, against 2,222,000 bu last year and shipments were 789,000 bu, against 1,336,000 bu last year. Chicago received 207,000 bu wheat and Kansas City 25,000 bu. Local receipts of wheat were 48,450 bu, against 152,262 bu last year and shipments were 49,490 bu. Clearances of wheat and flour for the day were 686,000 bu.

Corn was quiet, the trading light and prices sold down mainly in sympathy with wheat and with Chicago corn. The weakness in the latter is reported to have been caused partly by the sharply lower hog market. Cables on corn closed ½d lower. The world's visible supply of corn decreased 1,141,000 bu. The pressure was not very heavy, but the scattered offerings met with a very slow demand and prices receded to a 1½@1⅝c loss for the day, at which levels they closed. The movement of corn continues unusually light. There were few features to today's corn markets.

Cash corn was in slow demand and prices were weak. Primary receipts of corn were 279,000 bu, against 936,450 bu last year, and shipments were 334,000 bu, against 222,000 bu last year. Local receipts of corn were 46,200 bu, against 176,000 bu last year, and shipments were 49,490 bu. Corn clearances were 106,000 bu.

Oats futures were again dull and featureless, only one option being mentioned, and this ruling about steady. The close was ⅛c to ¼c for the day. The visible supply of oats increased 641,000 bu. The cash demand for oats was slow, and prices easier. Primary receipts of oats were 42,100 bu, against 254,400 bu last year and shipments were 79,945 bu. Oats clearances were 1000 bu.

Minneapolis stocks decreased 60,000 bu for four days. Minneapolis cars were 218, against 517 (two days) last year, and Duluth 279, against 610 (two days) last year.

FLOUR—Receipts were 11,240 bbls.; shipments, 10,300 bbls. Quote soft winter flour, patents, $4.85@4.90; straight, $4.60@4.70; extra fancy, $4.55@4.60; in wood; low to medium grades, in jute, $3.35@3.70; hard jute sacks, patent, $4.75@5; straight, $4.45@4.60; first clears, $3.70@4.10; second clears, $3.30@3.60; low grade, $3.35@3.40; spring patents, $5.50@5.70 in jute.

HAY—Receipts, 337 tons local and 475 tons through; shipments, 500 tons. Quote timothy choice, $17.50@18; No. 1, $14.50@16.50; No. 2, $12@14; No. 3, $8@11; no grade, $5@7. Clover, mixed, choice, $15.50@16; $13.50@13; No. 2, $10.50@12; clover hay, No. 1, $14@15; No. 2, $11@13. Prairie hay—Choice, $12.50@13; No. 1, $11.50@12; No. 2, $10@12. Hay market dull.

Law Students at Banquet.

The senior class of the Benton College of Law found, when it gathered at the Hotel Jefferson Tuesday night to dine, that several city celebrities were present. John J. O'Brien, former Speaker of the House of Delegates, is a member of the class. So are John A. Dowdall, clerk of the City Hall Police Court, and Thomas J. Ward, secretary of the Police Board. The banquet is to be a monthly affair.

RECEIPTS—Cattle, 4000; hogs, 8000; sheep, 1200; horses and mules, 100.

CATTLE—A little over two-thirds of today's receipts were gathered in the native division and included a larger proportion of steers than usual and some of good quality. A few of the medium-weight steers which find the most active sale sold early at steady prices, but the general market was slow and prices weak to lower. Heifers sold readily at strong prices, and the best beef cows brought steady values, but canners and cutters were slow sale at unevenly lower prices. The demand and supply of stockers and feeders was light and the few offerings sold nearly steady. Veal calves brought fine prices. Most of the 1200 cattle received consisted of Texas calves, principally forwarded from other markets. The best kinds sold at full, steady prices, but the market for others was slow and weak. Two or three loads of Arkansas and Mississippi mixed stock sold steady.

HOGS—The supply was again liberal and the market 25c lower than yesterday's close, or 35c lower than yesterday morning. The fen today, $5.60, was the lowest since Jan. 30, 1906. Only 4000 hogs were received on last Wednesday, when the top was $6.25, and 5300 arrived on the corresponding day one year ago, when the top also sold at $6.25. Trading at the opening today was very slow and but few hogs were sold during the early hours. The bulk brought $5.25 to $5.40.

Society

SOCIETY will be largely represented at the marriage in New York today of Miss Flora Dula of that city and Mr. William B. Dean Jr. of St. Louis. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Dula, and the ceremony, which is set for 5 o'clock, will be performed in the drawing rooms of their home at 1703 Fifth avenue.

The affair, while entirely simple in detail, will lack nothing of beauty on that account. The bridal party proper will consist of five principals—Miss Dula and Mr. Dean, Mr. Robert Dula, who will escort his daughter to the altar; Miss Belva Dula, the maid of honor, and Mr. Prentice Scudder of St. Louis, the best man. The four ushers, Mr. Selwyn Clark Edgar Jr. of St. Louis, Wyndham Eugene Gary, Grover C. Dula and Robert Dula, will supply the background of the picture. Dr. Ralph Stevenson Ross of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church will officiate.

Miss Dula's bridal gown is of soft liberty satin, heavily embroidered in silver and white. It is of empire cut and covered with an overdress of chiffon, giving an indescribably charming effect of frosty cloud over the shimering satin. The veil is of tulle, caught with orange blossoms, a bouquet of lilies of the valley and gardenias. The bride's only ornament will be a la Valliere pendant of diamonds, the gift of the bridegroom.

The costume of her sister, Miss Belva Dula, will wear pale yellow satin veiled in chiffon, with a sash of brown tulle and a gold gauze ribbon in her hair. She will carry yellow roses.

A floral altar, banked on either side with palms and white asters, has been reared at the end of the drawing room. Silver vases hold the roses that are used in profusion.

Mr. and Mrs. Selwyn C. Edgar Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Selwyn C. Edgar Jr., Mrs. Rutherford Dula of Virginia, Mrs. William B. Dean of St. Louis, mother of the groom, and his aunt, Mrs. William Henry McCormick of California, will be among the out-of-town guests.

The bride and groom have kept secret their honeymoon destination, but will be absent for several weeks before returning to St. Louis, where they will make their future home.

ST. LOUIS GUEST AT DULA DEAN WEDDING

MRS. SELWYN EDGAR.

Miss Lillian Lightholder of St. Louis Monday became the bride of Mr. John M. McLaughlin of Chicago, son of Mr and Mrs. J. T. McLaughlin of Chicago. The ceremony was performed quietly at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon at St. Francis Xavier Church, the pastor, Rev. Father Henry C. Bronsgeest, S. J., officiating.

The bride is a member of an old St. Louis family, and the groom a former student of Chicago University. They will reside at 5870 Romaine place.

Mrs. Harry Prufrock of the Buckingham entertained her bridge club of two tables Tuesday afternoon.

This club makes a specialty of its luncheon, which precedes the game, and which is always elaborate; also of the handsome gowns worn by the members, who don their best when the club meets.

Members are Mrs. Charles Mansur, Mrs. Thomas Crouch, Mrs. C. D. Johnson, Mrs. Merton Jourdan, Mrs. John S. Blake, Mrs. John S. Grant, Mrs. Joseph Barada Widen.

Mr. and Mrs. William Brisco Kinealy have formed a Dickens Club for the winter, to meet fortnightly at their residence.

About forty friends, all Dickens lovers, were asked Monday night for the first meeting.

"Pickwick Papers" was the subject taken for the evening, with Mrs. Walter Blakely as its exponent.

A group of debutantes will sell programs at the coming charity vaudeville performance at the Odeon on Nov. 13.

They are the Misses Katherine Semple, Helen Tredway, Margaret Lionberger, Hildegarde Nagel, and Georgie Elliot.

Prof. John H. Musser of Philadelphia; University of Pennsylvania; colleague of Dr. William Osler, will be entertained by the Alpha Omega Alpha at the St. Louis Club at 8 o'clock with a dinner. Dr. Ellsworth Smith Jr. will give a reception from 3 to 5 o'clock at his Maryland avenue residence, Saturday afternoon.

The members of the West End Charity Circle will be hostesses Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at a large card party to be given for the benefit of the Society for the Relief of Consumptives at the Washington Hotel. Playing will begin promptly at the appointed hour.

Mrs. F. E. Ferrill of Delmar boulevard entertained the Wednesday six-hand euchre club of which she is a member. Mr. and Mrs. Ferrill will shortly depart for New York, accompanied by their daughter, Miss Eulilia Ferrill, who has been ill for the past month.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Moody returned Tuesday evening from their Eastern wedding trip.

Mrs. Moody was Miss Anna Lou Caldwell.

Mrs. Byrd Teasdale Caldwell and Mrs. Moody will receive on Nov. 18 and 25 at their West Morgan street residence.

A baby auction will be given for the benefit of St. Ann's Foundling Asylum the first week in December, by a number of prominent young society women. One of St. Louis' leading artists will donate a sketch of an infant and the auction will take place at one of the West End hotels.

Mrs. T. O. Martin, 5584 Maple avenue, assisted by Mrs. Anna Hickok, entertained the St. Louis chapter, U. D. C., Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Hannah Jones, from Chicago, is visiting her sister, Mrs. M. Silverburg of Page boulevard, on her way to her home in Meridian, Miss.

Mrs. Joseph A. Rule and the Misses Rule, 4489 Lindell boulevard, will give a tea for Mrs. Will Moody Nov. 14.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Have You Rheumatism, Kidney, Liver or Bladder Trouble?

To Prove what Swamp-Root, the Great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy, will do for YOU, all our Readers May Have a Sample Bottle Sent Free by Mail.

Pain or dull ache in the back is evidence of Kidney trouble. It is nature's timely warning to show you that the track of health is not clear.

Danger Signals.

If these danger signals are unheeded more serious results follow; Bright's disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble, may steal upon you.

The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable cures in the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine, you should have the best.

Lame Back.

Lame back is only one of many symptoms of kidney trouble. Other symptoms showing that you need Swamp-Root are, being obliged to pass water often during the day and to get up many times during the night.

Catarrh of the Bladder.

Inability to hold urine, smarting in passing, uric acid, headache, dizziness, indigestion, sleeplessness, nervousness; sometimes the heart acts badly, rheumatism, bloating, lack of ambition, may be loss of flesh, sallow complexion.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease.

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalency of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

A Trial Will Convince Anyone.

In taking Swamp-Root you afford natural help to Nature, for Swamp-Root is the most perfect healer and gentle aid to the kidneys that has yet been discovered.

People in All Walks of Life Who Are Afflicted With Piles Go to Dr. M. Ney Smith, the Specialist, Because His Treatment and Methods Have Been Proven Successful Under a Trial of Twenty Years.

When Cured by His Treatment Your Affliction Never Returns. Is the Story of Hundreds and Hundreds He Has Cured.

I wish to call the reader's attention to the fact that I publish testimonial letters over facsimile signatures in each advertisement, from parties who were cured by my treatment some time during the last 20 years. I publish these letters in this way because those who are afflicted should be given every opportunity to know that the letters are genuine, and that my statements can be absolutely depended upon. I want the afflicted who contemplate taking treatment to come to me because they have confidence in me, my methods, treatment, etc., and there is no way to acquire this confidence but by investigating fully before you come. This you can do by going personally to the parties whose letters and names I publish, or by writing direct to them and learn from them whether or not you can afford to place your case under my care.

If afflicted it will pay you to go to all the trouble necessary to fully post yourself, for just as sure as you do, and then come to me, and I take your case, I will cure you, and you will again enjoy good health, happiness and a longer life.

I cure almost as many women as men. The wife, mother or sister should not go on suffering, but should come and be cured. I have private waiting rooms for ladies and gentlemen.

OUT OF TOWN AFFLICTED.

I have under treatment all the time parties who live out of the city. You can come here for treatment and do it at very little expense. I cure most cases in from ten days to two weeks, and unless you are very bad you can spend most of this time going about the city, or doing what you please, it being necessary to come to my office only once a day while under treatment.

FREE—172-page book for men, 52-page book for ladies. Consultation at my office or by mail FREE OF CHARGE.

PILES CURED WITHOUT THE KNIFE

FISTULA—FISSURE—PAY WHEN CURED

Henr What Mr. J. E. Bruder Has to Say: "Entirely Cured of Both Piles and Fistula. Treatment and Handling of Case Perfectly Satisfactory. Thankful for Kindness and Tenderness While Under Treatment."

St. Louis, Mo., Mar. 30th, 1907.

Dr. M. Ney Smith,
814 Pine St., St. Louis, Mo.

Dear Doctor Smith: I wish to say that I am entirely cured of both Piles and Fistula, for which you treated me some six or eight months ago. Your treatment and handling of my case was perfectly satisfactory. I had suffered for a number of years with this trouble, and only those thus afflicted know what pain and inconvenience one suffers with this combination of afflictions.

I would advise anyone who is troubled in this way to place themselves under your treatment, and rest assured that they will be entirely cured.

Thanking you for your kindness and tenderness in handling my case, I am
Very truly yours,

J. E. Bruder

Mr. C. J. Gresham, of the Gresham Furniture Co. of Eddyville, Ky., Unable to Express Gratitude for the Complete Cure, After Four Years of Great Suffering. Now Feeling So Well That He Has Almost Forgotten That He was Ever Afflicted.

Eddyville, Ky., Oct. 27th, 1907.

Dr. M. Ney Smith,
814 Pine St., St. Louis, Mo.

My Dear Doctor: I am quite ashamed that I have neglected to show you the courtesy which you so much deserve, by not letting you hear from me; but allow me to say that I can hardly use language to express my thankfulness to you and your skill.

I was afflicted with Piles for some three or four years, gradually growing worse and worse, until on July 4th, 1907, I visited St. Louis and secured your services, and I can truthfully say that you cured me so quickly that I have almost forgotten that I ever was afflicted. Before I went to you I tried everything that was prescribed, but to no effect, only to get worse and suffer more and more.

In conclusion allow me to say that "anybody who will continue to suffer with Piles must be of unsound mind, unless they are entirely without funds."

Hoping you lasting success I remain—one that will ever have a warm spot in my heart for you—

Yours truly,

C. J. Gresham

Mr. C. A. Reinhardt With St. Louis Machinists' Supply Co. Had Tried Numerous Doctors and Used Various Remedies, Without Results. Through Advice of a Friend Consulted Dr. Smith—Cured Without Pain or Loss of Time from Work. Now in Perfect Health.

St. Louis, Mo., Apr. 19th, 1907.

Dr. M. Ney Smith,
814 Pine St., St. Louis, Mo.

Dear Doctor: It has now been several months since you treated me for Piles and Constipation. I had been afflicted with this for some time and had tried numerous doctors and medicines without being cured. Through the recommendation of a friend of mine I was induced to call on you and, after an examination, you assured me that you could cure me of this trouble. I submitted to your treatment and am happy to say that you entirely cured me of this trouble, and that I have been enjoying the best of health since.

While under your treatment I lost no time from business and suffered no pain or inconvenience. It is certainly a great relief to be free from Piles and Constipation. I wish to recommend you to anyone whom I hear of having this trouble.

With kindest regards to you, and hoping this will be the means of influencing others to place themselves under your treatment, I am,

Yours very truly,

C. A. Reinhardt
